Literature and Culture in Global Africa Tanure Ojaide, 2017-07-06 Exploring the idea of a Global Africa this book examines how African literary and cultural productions have changed due to the social and political influences brought about by increased globalisation A variety of European theoretical concepts are applied to Africa demonstrating the universality of the African experience

Human Rights, Inc. Joseph R. Slaughter, 2009-08-25 In this timely study of the historical ideological and formal interdependencies of the novel and human rights Joseph Slaughter demonstrates that the twentieth century rise of world literature and international human rights law are related phenomena Slaughter argues that international law shares with the modern novel a particular conception of the human individual The Bildungsroman the novel of coming of age fills out this image offering a conceptual vocabulary a humanist social vision and a narrative grammar for what the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and early literary theorists both call the free and full development of the human personality Revising our received understanding of the relationship between law and literature Slaughter suggests that this narrative form has acted as a cultural surrogate for the weak executive authority of international law naturalizing the assumptions and conditions that make human rights appear commonsensical As a kind of novelistic correlative to human rights law the Bildungsroman has thus been doing some of the sociocultural work of enforcement that the law cannot do for itself This analysis of the cultural work of law and of the social work of literature challenges traditional Eurocentric histories of both international law and the dissemination of the novel

Taking his point of departure in Goethe's Wilhelm Meister, Slaughter focuses on recent postcolonial versions of the coming of age story to show how the promise of human rights becomes legible in narrative and how the novel and the law are complicit in contemporary projects of globalization in colonialism, neoimperialism, humanitarianism and the spread of multinational consumer capitalism. Slaughter raises important practical and ethical questions that we must confront in advocating for human rights and reading world literature imperatives that today more than ever are intertwined.

Ambiguous Pleasures Rachel Spronk, 2012 Among both male and female young urban professionals in Nairobi, sexuality is a key to achieving a modern identity. These young men and women see themselves as the avant-garde of a new Africa while they also express the recurring worry of how to combine an African identity with the new lifestyles with which they are experimenting. By focusing on public debates and their preoccupations with issues of African heritage, gerontocratic power relations and conventional morality on the one hand and personal sexual relationships, intimacy and self-perceptions on the other, this study works out the complexities of sexuality and culture in the context of modernity in an African society. It moves beyond an investigation of a health or development perspective of sexuality and instead examines desire, pleasure and eroticism, revealing new insights into the methodology and theory of the study of sexuality within the social sciences. Sexuality serves as a prism for analysing how social developments generate new notions of self in postcolonial Kenya and is a crucial component towards understanding the way people recognize and deal with modern changes in their personal lives.

Deferred Dreams, Defiant Struggles Violet Showers Johnson, Gundolf Graml, Patricia Williams Lessane, 2018-08-31 This volume sheds light on how to construe the contemporary political vicissitudes of the Black experience and the ongoing struggle for agency, belonging and civil rights. It offers a fresh look at familiar concepts such as activism and belonging and models innovative approaches for studying the African diasporic experience in the 21st century.

Critique and Utopia in Postcolonial Historical Fiction Greg Forter, 2019-01-17 This bold and ambitious volume argues that postcolonial historical fiction offers readers valuable resources for thinking about history and the relationship between past and present. It shows how the genre's treatment of colonialism illustrates continuities between the colonial era and our own and how the genre distils from our colonial pasts the evanescent utopian intimations of a properly postcolonial future. Critique and Utopia in Postcolonial Historical Fiction arrives at these insights by juxtaposing novels from the Atlantic world with books from the Indian subcontinent. Attending to the links across these regions, the volume develops luminous readings of novels by Patrick Chamoiseau, J. G. Farrell, Amitav Ghosh, Marlon James, Hari Kunzru, Toni Morrison, Marlene van Niekerk, Arundhati Roy, Kamila Shamsie and Barry Unsworth. It shows how these works not only transform our understanding of the colonial past and the futures that might issue from it but also contribute to pressing debates in postcolonial theory, debates about the politics of literary forms, the links between cycles of capital accumulation and the emergence of new genres, the meaning of working through traumas in the postcolonial context, the relationship between colonial and panoptical power, the continued salience of hybridity and mimicry for the study of colonialism and the tension between national liberation struggles and transnational forms of solidarity Beautifully written and meticulously theorized Critique and Utopia in Postcolonial Historical Fiction will be of interest to students of world literature Marxist critics postcolonial theorists and thinkers of the utopian Being/s in Transit ,2021-11-22 This fifth volume of ASNEL Papers covers a wide range of theoretical and thematic approaches to the topics of travelling migration and dislocation All migrants are travellers but not all travellers are migrants Migration and the figure of the migrant have become key concepts in recent post colonial studies However migration is not such a new or exceptional phenomenon From the eighteenth century onward there have been migrations from Europe to what are now called post colonial countries and this prepared the ground for movement back to the old but also to the new centres of Europe and elsewhere Travel and travel experience on the other hand have been part of the cultural codes not only of the West and not only of imperialism The essays in this volume look at both kinds of movement at their intersections and at their dis locating effects They cover a wide range of topics from early seventeenth century travel reports through nineteenth century women s travel writing to such contemporary writers as Michael Ondaatje and Janette Turner Hospital Africana Islamic Studies James L.
