The Celluloid Specimen Benjamin Schultz-Figueroa, 2023-02-28 The Celluloid Specimen examines twentieth century behaviorist films that captured animal experiments revealing the central role of cinema in generating psychosocial definitions of species race identity and culture that continue to shape our contemporary political and scientific discourses Benjami 1n Schultz Figueroa analyzes rarely seen archival films made by Robert Yerkes in the 1930s at the first experimental primate colonies in North America the rat films made to simulate human society at Yale University in the 1930s and 1940s and the promotional films made by B F Skinner to sell the U S military on his design for a pigeon guided missile during World War II These laboratory films have long been categorized as passive recordings of scientific research but when examined in their own right they become rich historical political and aesthetic texts that played a crucial role in the history of science Defining Love Thomas Jay Oord,2010-06 Engages cutting edge scientific research on love and altruism to offer a definition of love that is scientifically theologically and philosophically adequate Understanding Others Dominick LaCapra,2018-09-15 To what extent do we and can we understand others other peoples species times and places What is the role of others within ourselves epitomized in the notion of unconscious forces Can we come to terms with our internalized others in ways that foster mutual understanding and counteract the tendency to scapegoat project victimize and indulge in prejudicial and narcissistic impulses How do various fields or disciplines address or avoid such questions And have these questions become particularly pressing and not in the least confined to other peoples times and places Making selective and critical use of the thought of such important figures as Sigmund Freud Jacques Derrida and Mikhail Bakhtin in Understanding Others Dominick LaCapra investigates a series of crucial topics from the current state of deconstruction trauma studies and the humanities to newer fields such as animal studies and posthumanist scholarship LaCapra adroitly brings critical historical thought into a provocative engagement with politics and our current political climate This is LaCapra at his best critically rethinking major currents and exploring the old and the new in combination often suggesting what this means in the age of Trump Heal Yourself with Emotional Freedom Technique John Freedom,2013-05-31 Emotional Freedom Technique is a new and innovative alternative therapy that is rapidly becoming a phenomenon It is a safe and non invasive healing method based on tapping acupuncture points while you focus on a particular issue It has been shown to be effective in treating fears and phobias performance anxiety guilt shame self sabotage and other emotional conditions It is also being used to enhance and improve academic and athletic performance psychic and intuitive abilities confidence and self esteem and overall health and well being Opening Skinner's Box Lauren Slater,2013-04-08 Through ten examples of ingenious experiments by some of psychology s most innovative thinkers Lauren Slater traces the evolution of the century s most pressing concerns free will authoritarianism conformity and morality Beginning with B F Skinner and the legend of a child raised in a box Slater takes us from a deep empathy with Stanley Milgram s obedience subjects to a funny and disturbing re creation of an experiment questioning the validity of psychiatric diagnosis Previously described only in academic journals and textbooks these often daring experiments have never before been narrated as stories chock full of plot wit personality and theme Curious Kin in Fictions of Posthuman Care Amelia DeFalco,2023-08-27 Over the past decade cultural theory has seen a number of turns the materialist turn the animal turn the affective turn that address the human as an affective embodied and ultimately vulnerable animal embedded in dense webs of more than human relations in short as a posthuman phenomenon Care philosophy shares this focus on embodiment and vulnerability in its insistence on interdependence as the defining condition of human life making it well positioned for a posthuman turn To this end Curious Kin in Fictions of Posthuman Care draws together contemporary narrative fictions that challenge humanist conceptions of care in their imaginative depiction of more than human affective bonds arguing for an expansion care philosophy's central figure the embodied embedded and encumbered human Fictional narratives of care between humans and robots bioengineered creatures clones nonhuman animals aliens or inanimate things highlight the limits of humanist ethical models capacity to register and accommodate posthuman relational intimacies while gesturing towards a model of care able to accommodate networked interdependencies that extend beyond the human realm

Texts by Margaret Atwood Louise Erdrich Louisa Hall Eva Hornung Kazuo Ishiguro Bhanu Kapil and Jesmyn Ward along with films and television programmes like Robot and Frank Under the Skin and Real Humans depict a range of scenarios in which more than human care relations not only supersede human human relationships but suggest new human animal machine ways of being that offer novel insights into the possible presents and futures of posthuman care Curious Kin in Fictions of Posthuman Care reveals how these fictions do their own theorizing imagining the politics ethics and aesthetics of specific contextualized scenarios of posthuman contact and companionship Interweaving posthuman theory care philosophy and contemporary fiction Curious Kin in Fictions of Posthuman Care offers generative visions of care that make room for the incredible range of affects energies behaviours attachments and dependencies that produce and sustain life in more than human worlds

How to Feel Sushma Subramanian, 2021-02-02 We are out of touch Many people fear that we are trapped inside our screens becoming less in tune with our bodies and losing our connection to the physical world But the sense of touch has been undervalued since long before the days of digital isolation Because of deeply rooted beliefs that favor the cerebral over the corporeal touch is maligned as dirty or sentimental in contrast with supposedly more elevated modes of perceiving the world How to Feel explores the scientific physical emotional and cultural aspects of touch reconnecting us to what is arguably our most important sense Sushma Subramanian introduces readers to the scientists whose groundbreaking research is underscoring the role of touch in our lives Through vivid individual stories a man who lost his sense of touch in his late teens a woman who experiences touch emotion synesthesia her own efforts to become less touch averse Subramanian explains the science of the somatosensory system and our philosophical beliefs about it She visits labs that are shaping the textures of objects we use every day from cereal to synthetic fabrics The book highlights the growing field of haptics which is trying to incorporate tactile interactions into devices such as phones that touch us back and prosthetic limbs that can feel How to Feel offers a new appreciation for a vital but misunderstood sense and how we can use it to live more fully

History and Its Limits Dominick LaCapra, 2011-02-23 Dominick LaCapra's History and Its Limits articulates the relations among intellectual history cultural history and critical theory examining the recent rise of Practice Theory and probing the limitations of prevalent forms of humanism LaCapra focuses on the problem of understanding extreme cases specifically

events and experiences involving violence and victimization He asks how historians treat and are simultaneously implicated in the traumatic processes they attempt to represent In addressing these questions he also investigates violence s impact on various types of writing and establishes a distinctive role for critical theory in the face of an insufficiently discriminating aesthetic of the sublime often unreflectively amalgamated with the uncanny In History and Its Limits LaCapra inquires into the related phenomenon of a turn to the postsecular even the messianic or the miraculous in recent theoretical discussions of extreme events by such prominent figures as Giorgio Agamben Eric L Santner and Slavoj Zizek In a related vein he discusses Martin Heidegger s evocative if not enchanting understanding of The Origin of the Work of Art LaCapra subjects to critical scrutiny the sometimes internally divided way in which violence has been valorized in sacrificial regenerative or redemptive terms by a series of important modern intellectuals on both the far right and the far left including Georges Sorel the early Walter Benjamin Georges Bataille Frantz Fanon and Ernst J nger Violence and victimization are prominent in the relation between the human and the animal LaCapra questions prevalent anthropocentrism evident even in theorists of the posthuman and the long standing quest for a decisive criterion separating or dividing the human from the animal LaCapra regards this attempt to fix the difference as misguided and potentially dangerous because it renders insufficiently problematic the manner in which humans treat other animals and interact with the environment In raising the issue of desirable transformations in modernity History and Its Limits examines the legitimacy of normative limits necessary for life in common and explores the disconcerting role of transgressive initiatives beyond limits including limits blocking the recognition that humans are themselves animals

Seek You Kristen Radtke, 2021-07-13 From the acclaimed author of Imagine Wanting Only This a timely and moving meditation on isolation and longing both as individuals and as a society There is a silent epidemic in America loneliness Shameful to talk about and often misunderstood loneliness is everywhere from the most major of metropolises to the smallest of towns In Seek You Kristen Radtke s wide ranging exploration of our inner lives and public selves Radtke digs into the ways in which we attempt to feel closer to one another and the distance that remains Through the lenses of gender and violence technology and art Radtke ushers us through a history of loneliness and longing and shares what feels impossible to share Ranging from the invention of the laugh track to the rise of Instagram the bootstrap pulling cowboy to the brutal experiments of Harry Harlow Radtke investigates why we engage with each other and what we risk when we turn away With her distinctive emotionally charged drawings and deeply empathetic prose Kristen Radtke masterfully shines a light on some of our most vulnerable and sublime moments and asks how we might keep the spaces between us from splitting entirely

Observing Primate Caregivers Maria Botero, 2025-02-17 This book aims to advance our understanding of the caregiver infant interaction in primates and its effect on the development of social cognition working from an interdisciplinary approach i e psychology philosophy and anthropology challenging the dominant cognitivist perspectives and methodologies This book is important because it contributes to understanding how primate parent and infant interaction works and how it affects the infant's development Understanding this parent and infant interaction contributes to finding better ways to support human parents and provide better care for non human primate mothers and infants in captivity

Belonging Geoffrey L. Cohen, 2022-09-13 Finalist for The Next Big Idea Bookclub Behavioral Scientist and Greater Good Society Book of the Year Selection This is perhaps the richest book on belonging you'll ever read The inspiration one draws from every page of this book is an enhanced sense of what is possible. It revives the very thing we need most in these times: hope. Claude M. Steele, author of Whistling Vivaldi: Discover the Secret to Flourishing in an Age of Division, belongs. In a world filled with discord and loneliness, finding harmony and happiness can be difficult. But what if the key to unlocking our potential lies in this deceptively simple concept: Belonging is the feeling of being a part of a group that values respects and cares for us, a feeling that we can all cultivate in even the smallest corners of social life. In Belonging: The Science of Creating Connection and Bridging Divides, Stanford University professor Geoffrey L. Cohen draws on his own and others' groundbreaking scientific research to offer simple, concrete solutions for fostering a sense of belonging. These solutions can generate surprisingly significant and long-lasting benefits. Small but powerful actions can bolster belonging: actions such as encouraging people to reflect on their core values before they face a challenge or expressing belief in someone's capacity to reach a higher standard. A wide range of innovative approaches have been found to boost achievement at work and at school, bridge political divides, reduce prejudice, and even contribute to overall health. Rigorously tested in diverse arenas, from classrooms to disadvantaged neighborhoods to iconic Silicon Valley companies, these methods offer a path forward in these demanding times. Belonging is a compelling read for all who yearn for a more connected world, whether you're a manager or employee, an educator or student, a parent or caregiver, or simply someone seeking to make the most out of every moment you spend with others. Packed with actionable insights and specific strategies, this book offers hope and practical guidance, serving as both an inspiration and a roadmap to creating a world of inclusion, understanding, and empathy.

Developmental Psychology and Early Childhood Education David Whitebread, 2011-12-01 The importance of high-quality early childhood education is now universally recognised, and this quality crucially depends upon the practitioners who work with our young children and their deep understanding of how children develop and learn. This book makes a vital contribution to this understanding, providing authoritative reviews of key areas of research in developmental psychology and demonstrating how these can inform practice in early years educational settings. The book's major theme is the fundamental importance of young children developing as independent, self-regulating learners. It illustrates how good practice is based on four key principles which support and encourage this central aspect of development: secure attachment and emotional warmth, feelings of control and agency, cognitive challenge, adults supporting learning, and children learning from one another. Each chapter includes typical and significant questions which arise in practice related to that area of development, an up-to-date review of key research including insights from observational and experimental work with young children, from evolutionary psychology and from neuroscientific studies of the developing brain, practical exercises intended to deepen understanding and to inform practice, questions for discussion, recommended further reading. This book provides an invaluable resource for early years students and practitioners by summarizing new research findings and demonstrating how they can be translated into excellent early years practice.
