The Truth about Crime Jean Comaroff, John L. Comaroff, 2016-12-05 This new book by the well known anthropologists Jean and John L. Comaroff explores the global preoccupation with criminality in the early twenty first century a preoccupation strikingly disproportionate in most places and for most people to the risks posed by lawlessness to the conduct of everyday life Ours in an epoch in which law making law breaking and law enforcement are ever more critical registers in which societies construct contest and confront truths about themselves an epoch in which criminology broadly defined has displaced sociology as the privileged means by which the social world knows itself They also argue that as the result of a tectonic shift in the triangulation of capital the state and governance the meanings attached to crime and with it the nature of policing have undergone significant change also that there has been a palpable muddying of the lines between legality and illegality between corruption and conventional business even between crime and policing which exist nowadays in ever greater hyphenated complicity Thinking through Crime and Policing is therefore an excursion into the contemporary Order of Things or rather into the metaphysic of disorder that saturates the late modern world indeed has become its leitmotif It is also a meditation on sovereignty and citizenship on civility class and race on the law and its transgression on the political economy of representation

A History of Theatre in Africa Martin Banham, 2004-05-13 This book aims to offer a broad history of theatre in Africa The roots of African theatre are ancient and complex and lie in areas of community festival seasonal rhythm and religious ritual as well as in the work of popular entertainers and storytellers Since the 1950s in a movement that has paralleled the political emancipation of so much of the continent there has also grown a theatre that comments back from the colonized world to the world of the colonists and explores its own cultural political and linguistic identity A History of Theatre in Africa offers a comprehensive yet accessible account of this long and varied chronicle written by a team of scholars in the field Chapters include an examination of the concepts of history and theatre North Africa Francophone theatre Anglophone West Africa East Africa Southern Africa Lusophone African theatre Mauritius and Reunion and the African diaspora

Playing the Market Anne Fuchs, 2021-11-22 The relationship between Johannesburg's Market Theatre and the economic and political forces of South Africa's apartheid regime was both complex and somewhat ambiguous The theatre's two founders Mannie Manim and Barney Simon however from idealistic beginnings managed to steer their experimental enterprise around pitfalls ranging from censorship boycotts and recuperation by big business to the difficulties encountered in finding black authors let alone black audiences If the place occupied by the Market institution in apartheid society is emphasized throughout the present study its contribution to the aesthetic of resistance is also underlined through detailed criticism of the plays and authors dominating the theatre Pieter Dirk Uys Barney Simon's workshop plays and among others Black Consciousness plays are subjected to various methods of theatre performance analysis The reckoning that had to come in the early 1990s revealed itself as globally positive the reasons for this may be found in the updated concluding part of Playing the Market which is composed of more general essays including one on the vibrant Junction Avenue Theatre Company on how the theatre scene in contemporary South Africa started to change A postscript reveals more specific aspects of the Market situation in the late 1990s when its hegemony in the New South Africa was already being questioned

The Cambridge History of South African Literature David Attwell, Derek Attridge, 2012-01-12 South Africa's unique history has produced literatures in many languages in both oral and written forms reflecting the diversity in the cultural histories and experiences of its people The Cambridge History offers a comprehensive multi authored history of South African literature in all eleven official languages and more minor ones of the country produced by a team of over forty international experts including contributors from all of the major regions and language groups of South Africa It will provide a complete portrait of South Africa's literary production organised as a chronological history from the oral traditions existing before colonial settlement to the post apartheid revision of the past In a field marked by controversy this volume is more fully representative than any existing account of South Africa's literary history It will make a unique contribution to Commonwealth international and postcolonial studies and serve as a definitive reference work for decades to come

Trends in Twenty-First-Century African Theatre and Performance Kene Igweonu, 2011 Trends in Twenty First Century African Theatre and Performance is a collection of regionally focused articles on African theatre and performance The volume provides a broad exploration of the current state of African theatre and performance and considers the directions they are taking in the 21st Century It contains sections on current trends in theatre and performance studies on applied community theatre and on playwrights The chapters have evolved out of a working group process in which papers were submitted to peer group scrutiny over a period of four years at four international conferences The book will be particularly useful as a key text for undergraduate and postgraduate courses in non western theatre and performance where this includes African theatre and performance and would be a very useful resource for theatre scholars and anyone interested in African performance forms and cultures

Towards a Transcultural Future Peter H. Marsden, Geoffrey V. Davis, 2004 The volume reflects the human rights situation in many countries from Mauritius to New Zealand from the Cameroon to Canada It includes a focus on the Malawian writer Jack Mapanje The contributors concerns embrace topics as varied as denotified tribes in India female genital mutilation in Africa native residential schools in Canada political violence in Northern Ireland the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission and the discourse of the Treaty of Waitangi
