Samuel Selvon Roydon Salick,2013 This full length study traces the evolution of Selvon from fledgling author of poems and short fiction to an established short story writer and novelist It argues that Selvon enjoys a special place in West Indian literature because of his celebration of the enormous struggle of the Indo Trinidadian peasant out of the cane experience into every professional field and politics Back cover

Narratives of Obeah in West Indian Literature Janelle Rodrigues,2019-04-05 This book explores representations of Obeah a name used in the English Creole speaking Caribbean to describe various African derived syncretic Caribbean religious practices across a range of prose fictions published in the twentieth century by West Indian authors In the Caribbean and its diasporas Obeah often manifests in the casting of spells the administration of baths and potions of various oils herbs roots and powders and sometimes spirit possession for the purposes of protection revenge health and well being In most Caribbean territories the practice and practices that may resemble it remains illegal Narratives of Obeah in West Indian Literature analyses fiction that employs Obeah as a marker of the Black folk aesthetics that are now constitutive of West Indian literary and cultural production either in resistance to colonial ideology or in service of the same These texts foreground Obeah as a social and cultural logic both integral to and troublesome within the creation of such a thing as West Indian literature and culture at once a product of and a foil to Caribbean plantation societies This book explores the presentation of Obeah as an unruly narrative subject one that not only subverts but signifies a lasting Afro folk sensibility within colonial and postcolonial writing of the West Indies Narratives of Obeah in West Indian Literature will be of interest to scholars and students of Caribbean Literature Diaspora Studies and African and Caribbean religious studies it will also contribute to dialogues of spirituality in the wider Black Atlantic

Postcolonial Literatures and Deleuze L. Burns,B. Kaiser,2012-06-19 Bringing together high profile scholars in the fields of Deleuze and postcolonial studies this book highlights the overlooked connections between two major schools of contemporary criticism and establishes a new critical discourse for postcolonial literature and theory

Caribbean Without Borders Raquel Puig,Dorsía Smith,2008-12-18 Caribbean Studies is an emerging field As such many topics within this discipline have yet to be explored and developed This collection of essays is one of the forerunners dedicated to a comprehensive study of the literature language and culture of the Caribbean By exploring the works of such prominent literary scholars as Samuel

Selvon and Lorna Goodison as well as the myriad of issues pertaining to the Caribbean experience this volume provides an engaging overview of literary language and cultural analysis Because of this wide range of essays this text meets a need to examine the Caribbean in its complexity which is rarely addressed

Migrant Modernism J. Dillon Brown, 2013-04-29 In Migrant Modernism J Dillon Brown examines the intersection between British literary modernism and the foundational West Indian novels that emerged in London after World War II By emphasizing the location in which anglophone Caribbean writers such as George Lamming V S Naipaul and Samuel Selvon produced and published their work Brown reveals a dynamic convergence between modernism and postcolonial literature that has often been ignored Modernist techniques not only provided a way for these writers to mark their difference from the aggressively English literalist aesthetic that dominated postwar literature in London but also served as a self critical medium through which to treat themes of nationalism cultural inheritance and identity

The Colonial Conan Doyle Catherine Wynne, 2002-07-30 Arthur Conan Doyle is often perceived as the quintessential Englishman patriotically devoted to the Crown and the empire s defender and apologist But such a relegation is both limiting and simplistic Born in Scotland to Irish Catholic parents Doyle s heritage is complex His paternal grandfather John Doyle had originally left Ireland for London in the early 19th century his father was committed to the cause of Irish separatism and his uncle resigned from his position as main cartoonist for Punch after the journal launched an attack on the Pope Consequently British imperialism Irish nationalism and Catholic allegiance converge uneasily in his works This book examines the resulting tensions between imperialism and colonialism in his writings It argues that his thematic obsessions with topography race psyche and sexuality stem from his ambivalence toward his own heritage The volume repositions Doyle and redresses current critical approaches that have seen him solely as the advocate of empire and have ignored his colonial background It explores how his fictions occur within a colonial context the complexity of which is evident in gothic tropes of shifting landscapes disguised criminalities spiritualism and sexual anomalies and conflicts

Late Modernism and Expatriation Lauren Arrington, 2022-01-15 How did living abroad inflect writers perspectives on social change in the countries of their birth and in their adopted homelands How did writers reformulate ideas of social class race and gender in these new contexts How did they develop innovations in form and technique to achieve a style that reflected their social and political commitments The essays in this book show how the outward turn that typifies late modernist writing was precipitated in part by writers experience of expatriation Late Modernism Expatriation encompasses writing from the 1930s to the present day and considers expatriation in both its voluntary and coerced manifestations Together the essays in this book shape our understanding of how migration especially in its late twentieth and twenty first century complexities affects late modernism s temporalities The book attends to major theoretical questions about mapping late modernist networks and it foregrounds neglected aspects of writers work while placing other writers in a new frame

Conrad s simultaneous interests in exchange contracts and the condition of displacement The central hypothesis is that the novelist s characters face the option of signing or rejecting what might with some generalization be called a social covenant These individuals conduct a lonely or marginal existence and to ease their isolation they would like to re enter a community For this reason they are ready to contribute to larger collective causes and comply with those restrictions that social life in its contractual aspect requires As Julia Kristeva puts it The foreigner is the one who works yet engagement in transactions in order to earn a social position is fraught with difficulties In return for their contribution these hard working characters do not always receive the compensation that they had in mind especially when their definition of companionship violates the boundaries of legality and social propriety Their private illicit interests are bound to clash with communal ones and the ensuing negotiating readjustment or compromise seeking either crush the individual party or result in a redefinition of the notion of contract This link between exchange and displacement is explored in nine narratives Just as the concept of exile is used in a broad often metaphorical sense ranging from characters who are actual migrants through individuals who occupy a marginal position within their native community to individuals who are caught between conflicting cultural economic models the trade or contractual alliance that can create or at least promise a sense of communal belonging and personal recognition is also manifold in its definition Although it always includes if to varying degrees the transference of economic goods or entering a specific agreement exchange is never limited to legal material procedures

In My Own Shire Stephen Wade, 2002-12-30 An overview of 19th and 20th century writing from the British Isles shows a constant interplay between metropolitan centers and regional peripheries an interplay that points to the basic importance of place and belonging in literary creation and evaluation This volume examines the relationship between British literature including poetry fiction biography and drama and regional consciousness in the Victorian and modern periods introducing the reader to a range of responses to the profound feelings of belonging engendered by the sense of place The works covered are a mixture of familiar classics and less well known writings from working class writers or forgotten writers who were successful in their era After accounting for the emergence of regional writing in the early 19th century the author analyzes the development of regional writing in England Scotland Ireland and Wales focusing on issues such as the sociopolitical context of the regional novel the print and literary cultures around regional presses and the place of documentary in regional consciousness

Immigrant Narratives in Contemporary France Susan Ireland, Patrice J. Proulx, 2001-04-30 The first comprehensive survey of its kind in English this book examines the experience of immigration as represented by authors who moved to France from the Caribbean the Maghreb sub Saharan Africa and Asia after World War II Essays by expert contributors address the literary productions of different ethnic groups while taking into account generational differences and the effects of class and gender The focus on immigration a subject which has moved to the center of many sensitive social and political debates raises questions related to cultural hybridity identity politics border writing and the status of minority literature within the traditional literary canon all of which constitute vital areas of research in literary cultural and historical studies today Included are broad socio historical chapters on general topics related to immigration along with chapters providing detailed readings of specific texts and authors A key objective of the book is to consider the ways in which literary texts by authors of immigrant origin explore what it means to be French and how these works shape debates about French national and cultural identity The contributors discuss such issues as cultural hybridity linguistic identity and the textualization and theorization of otherness

Between the Bocas Jak Peake, 2017-07-19 Situated opposite the mouth of the Orinoco River western Trinidad has long been considered an entrepôt to mainland South America Trinidad's geographic position seen as strategic by various imperial governments led to many heterogeneous peoples from across the region and globe settling or being relocated there The calm waters around the Gulf of Paria on the western fringes of Trinidad induced settlers to construct a harbour Port of Spain around which the modern capital has been formed From its colonial roots into the postcolonial era western Trinidad therefore has played an especial part in the shaping of the island's literature. Viewed from one perspective western Trinidad might be deemed as narrating the heart of the modern state's national literature. Alternatively the political threats posed around San Fernando in Trinidad's southwest in the 1930s and from within the capital in the 1970s present a different picture of western Trinidad one in which the fractures of Trinidad and Tobago's projected nationalism are prevalent. While sugar remains a dominant narrative in Caribbean literary studies this book offers a unique literary perspective on matters too often perceived as the sole preserve of sociological anthropological or geographical studies. The legacy of the oil industry and the development of the suburban commuter belt of East West Corridor therefore form considerable discursive nodes alongside other key Trinidadian sites such as Woodford Square colonial houses and the urban yards of Port of Spain. This study places works by well known authors such as V S Naipaul and Samuel Selvon alongside writing by Michel Maxwell Philip Marcella Fanny Wilkins E L Joseph Earl Lovelace Ismith Khan Monique Roffey Arthur Calder Marshall and the largely neglected novelist Yseult Bridges who is almost entirely forgotten today. Using fiction calypso history memoir legal accounts poetry essays and journalism this study opens with an analysis of Trinidad's nineteenth century literature and offers twentieth century and more contemporary readings of the island in successive chapters. Chapters are roughly arranged in chronological order around particular sites and topoi while literature from a variety of authors of British Caribbean Irish and Jewish descent is represented.
