Uprising of Goats Diane Glancy, 2014-08-18 A professor hears the voices of Biblical women She begins writing What was it like for Dorcas to die and be brought back to life What was it like for Philip s daughters to live with the threat of persecution after Christ was crucified What did Miriam feel when she sat in the leprosy tent What did they all say as the professor wove her own story between their voices It was Michal David s first wife who made a bolster of goat s hair for David s bed when Saul her father was trying to kill him The bolster made it look as if David were there Likewise these women s voices are not their actual voices because they were not recorded in Scripture but a similitude of what such women might have said The narrator struggles with their stories beneath Scripture Michal is maligned because she scorned David when he danced before the ark but after the death of her sister she raised her sister s sons David hanged them all when the Gibeonites told him that Saul had broken a covenant with them They asked that Saul s male descendants be killed What was it like for Michal to see her nephews hanged What did she have to say

English as a Lingua Franca in Cross-cultural Immigration Domains Maria Grazia Guido,2008 This book explores the cognitive and communicative processes involved in the use of English as a Lingua Franca ELF within cross cultural specialized contexts where non native speakers of English i e Western experts and non Western migrants interact The book argues that the main communicative difficulties in such contexts are due precisely to the use of ELF since it develops from the non native speakers transfer of their native language structures and socio cultural schemata into the English they speak Transfer in fact allows non native speakers to appropriate or authenticate those English semantic syntactic pragmatic and specialized discourse structures that are linguistically and conceptually unavailable to them It follows that there are as many ELF varieties as there are communities of non native speakers authenticating English The research questions justifying the ethnographic case studies detailed in this book are What kind of cognitive frames and communicative strategies do Western experts activate in order to convey their culturally marked knowledge of specialized discourse by using their ELF varieties to non Westerners with different linguistic and socio cultural backgrounds What kind of power asymmetries can be identified when non Westerners try to communicate their own knowledge by using their respective ELF varieties Is it possible to ultimately develop a mode of ELF specialized communication that can be shared by both Western experts and non Western migrants

Schiffrin, 2007-12-14 The different traditions that have inspired the contributors to this volume can be divided along three different orientations one that is rooted predominantly in sociolinguistics a second that is ethnomethodologically informed and a third that came in the wake of narrative interview research All three share a commitment to view self and identity not as essential properties of the person but as constituted in discursive practices and particularly in narrative Moreover since self and identity are held to be phenomena that are contextually and continually generated they are defined and viewed in the plural as selves and identities In the attempt of moving closer toward a process oriented approach to the formation of selves and identities this volume sets the stage for future discussions of the role of narrative and discourse in this generation process and for how a close analysis of these processes can advance an understanding of the world around us and within this world of identities and selves
