weapons these quarter million American military personnel constitute a unique population Many of these men have experienced illnesses which they attribute to radiation exposure a number have offspring with congenital defects others are sterile Most seem to recognize that military service is a hazardous occupation that entails risks Still the feeling prevails that safety measures were inadequate and many identify themselves as human guinea pigs Their resentment however is not directed toward the military They tend to blame their problems on the policymakers the Congress and in particular on the Veterans Administration This book based on interviews and questionnaires examines and analyzes the recollections of the American military personnel involved in these tests and the effect on their lives Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1988

Tales of Militant Chemistry Alice Lovejoy, 2025-08-26 The untold story of film as a chemical cousin to poison gas and nuclear weapons shaped by centuries of violent extraction The history of film calls to mind unforgettable photographs famous directors and the glitz and hustle of the media business But there is another tale to tell that connects film as a material to the twentieth century's history of war destruction and cruelty This story comes into focus during World War II at the factories of Tennessee Eastman where photographic giant Kodak produced the rudiments of movie magic Not far away at Oak Ridge Kodak was also enriching uranium for the Manhattan Project uranium mined in the Belgian Congo and destined for the bomb that fell on Hiroshima While the world's largest film manufacturer transformed into a formidable military contractor across the ocean its competitor Agfa grew entangled with Nazi Germany's machinery of war After 1945 Kodak's film factories stood at the front lines of a new colder war as their photosensitive products became harbingers of the dangers of nuclear fallout Following scientists soldiers prisoners and spies through Kodak's and Agfa's global empires Alice Lovejoy links the golden age of cinema and photography to colonialism the military industrial complex radioactive dust and toxic waste Revelatory and chilling Tales of Militant Chemistry shows how film became a weapon whose chemistry irrevocably shaped the world we live in today the metaphorical aftershocks Before it was a global event the arrival of the bomb was a personal one for the hibakushas of those destroyed cities It may be good fortune fate or intelligence that preserved them in the midst of death and ruin preserving the voices that can still describe to the world what it looks like when people find new and awful ways to harm one another The hibakushas have spoken about their experiences in the aftermath of the twin bombings in Hiroshima and Nagasaki though many of the survivors were reluctant to share their stories because of the stigma attached to these hibakushas of Japan Follow the journey of the survivors from 6 and 9 August 1945 Their Unforgettable stories of courage and resilience in this must read copy will show the importance of peace and understanding in the world The Oxford

Handbook of Voice Studies Nina Eidsheim,Katherine Meizel,2019-05-22 More than 200 years after the first speaking machine we are accustomed to voices that speak from any and everywhere We interact daily with voices that emit from house alarm systems cars telephones and digital assistants such as Alexa and Google Home However vocal events still have the capacity to raise age old questions about the human the animal the machine and the spiritual or in non metaphysical terms questions about identity and authenticity In The Oxford Handbook of Voice Studies contributors look to the metaphorical voice as well as the clinical understanding of the vocal apparatus to answer the seemingly innocuous question What is voice From a range of disciplines including the humanities biology culture and technology studies contributors draw on the unique methodologies and values each has at hand to address the uses meanings practices theories methods and sounds of the voice Together they assess the ways that discipline specific ontological and epistemological assumptions of voice need to shift in order to take the findings of other fields into account This Handbook thus enables a lively discussion as multifaceted and complex as the voice itself has proven to be States Rights, Moratoria, and NRC Licensing Reforms United States. transformative capacities of these movements      Transnational Civil Society in Asia Simon Avenell,Akihiro Ogawa,2021-07-22 This edited volume addresses how transnational interactions among civil society actors in Asia and its sub regions are helping to strengthen common democratic values and transform dominant processes of policymaking and corporate capitalism in the region The contributors conceive of transnational civil society networks as constructive vehicles for both informing and persuading governments and businesses to adopt modify or abandon certain policies or positions This volume investigates the role of such networks through a range of interdisciplinary approaches bringing together case studies on Asian transnationalism from South Southeast and Northeast Asia across four key themes local transformations and connections diaspora politics cross regional initiatives and networks and global actors and influences Chapters demonstrate how transnational civil society is connecting people in local communities across Asia in parallel to ongoing tensions between nation states and civil society By highlighting the grassroots regionalization emerging from ever intensifying information exchange between civil society actors across borders as well as concrete transnational initiatives uniting actors across Asia the volume advances the intellectual mandate of redefining Asia as a dynamic and interconnected formation Transnational Civil Society in Asia will appeal to students and scholars of international relations politics and Asian studies more broadly

The Oxford Handbook of Music and Disability Studies Blake Howe,Stephanie Jensen-Moulton,Neil William Lerner,Joseph Nathan Straus,2016 Like race gender and sexuality disability is a social and cultural construction Music musicians and music making simultaneously embody and shape representations and narratives of disability Disability culturally stigmatized minds and bodies is one of the things that music in all times and places can be said to be about      The Non-governmental Voice at the United Nations Third Special Session on Disarmament, New York, 31 May-25 June 1988 United Nations. Department for Disarmament Affairs,1988 From the John Holmes Library collection      Unnatural Resources Michael Camp,2019-09-26

Unnatural Resources explores the intersection of energy production and environmental regulation in Appalachia after the oil embargo of 1973 The years from 1969 to 1973 saw the passage of a number of laws meant to protect the environment from human destruction and they initially enjoyed broad public popularity However the oil embargo which caused lines and fistfights at gasoline stations refocused Americans attention on economic issues and alerted Americans to the dangers of relying on imported oil As a drive to increase domestic production of energy gained momentum it soon appeared that new environmental regulations were inhibiting this initiative A backlash against environmental regulations helped inaugurate a bipartisan era of market based thinking in American politics and discredited the idea that the federal government had a constructive role to play in addressing energy issues This study connects political labor and environmental history to contribute to a growing body of literature on the decline of the New Deal and the rise of pro market thinking in American politics      Through My Voice: Statements at the United Nations, 2016 - 2021 Jerry Matthews Matjila,2024-03-15 The texts of Ambassador Matjila s statements and speeches below are taken from official UN documents Minutes of meetings available in the Dag Hammarskjöld Library and are reproduced as they appear without the Protocol references commonly used in such circumstances and instances. They were used with the permission of the Department of International Relations and Cooperation as sought by Ambassador Matjila. As is recognised in international law, the will of the State, an international legal entity, is expressed through its representatives, physical persons occupying special positions within the State and giving a face to its organs. Thus, these interventions made by the Ambassador to express the position of the Republic of South Africa on the issues under consideration. It is indeed in his capacity of Permanent Representative of South Africa that he was called upon to make these interventions. The work is devoid of any theoretical or doctrinal claim. It is intended to be more informative. This is why it is not accompanied by doctrinal commentaries nor consequently by references to scientific references. The book aspires to be exhaustive, so there was no need to limit or choose the texts that should appear here. To make it a practical and easy-to-use tool, the chronological classification by organ has been preferred to the thematic classification. In the United Nations archiving system, interventions before the Main Committees other than the First Committee are not reproduced in full; only a simple summary is offered. These summaries are also contained in this work and are recognisable by the fact that the name of the Ambassador is quoted at the beginning of the summary; the same applies to interventions made before the Economic and Social Council. The work is divided into 4 parts: the first focuses on statements made before the General Assembly, the second concerns the statements before the Economic and Social Council, the third statements before the Security Council, and the last part gathers the presidential statements made during the South African presidency of the Council and the resolutions adopted by the Council after South Africa's sponsorship. It is hoped that as a coffee table book, this collection will help enrich research and discussion about African contributions to the content of multilateralism at the United Nations. The photos inserted at the end of the work show a slice of life and activity of the Ambassador during his stay in New York. While they are also in the public domain, they come from Ambassador Matjila's private collections unless otherwise stated in the caption of each photo.

Voice First Sonya Huber, 2022-09

Though it is foundational to the craft of writing, the concept of voice is a mystery to many authors and teachers of writing do not have a good working definition of it for use in the classroom. Written to address the vague and problematic advice given to writers to find their voice, Voice First: A Writer's Manifesto recasts the term in the plural to give writers options, movement, and a way to understand the development of voice over time. By redefining voice, Sonya Huber offers writers an opportunity not only to engage their voices but to understand and experience how developing their range of voices strengthens their writing. Weaving together in-depth discussions of various concepts of voice and stories from the author's writing life, Voice First offers a personal view of struggles with voice as influenced and shaped by gender place of origin privilege race ethnicity and other factors reframing and updating the conversation for the twenty first century Each chapter includes writing prompts and explores a different element of voice helping writers at all levels stretch their concept of voice and develop a repertoire of voices to summon
