Pleasure Of The Text:

The Pleasure of the Text Roland Barthes, 1975 What is it that we do when we enjoy a text What is the pleasure of reading The French critic and theorist Roland Barthes s answers to these questions constitute perhaps for the first time in the history of criticism not only a poetics of reading but a much more difficult achievement an erotics of reading Like filings which gather to form a figure in a magnetic field the parts and pieces here do come together determined to affirm the pleasure we must take in our reading as against the indifference of mere knowledge Richard Howard The Gentlest Law Armine Kotin Mortimer, 1989 Rich in informative and provocative suggestions for interpreting all of Barthes s texts this unique work proposes a comprehensive commentary on Barthes s brilliant programmatic book The Pleasure of the Text Fully explained intertexts illustrate the theory of intertextuality and clarify the book s most enigmatic and complex concepts Also included are corrections of the serious errors in the English translation The introduction assesses the importance of The Pleasure of the Text in Barthes s evolution and defines intertextuality and other key Barthesian notions such as critique a bibliography and index complete this valuable and most unusual study Students and professors alike will find it indispensable The Pleasures of the Text Elizabeth Locey, 2002-01-15 This provocative reading of scandalous French woman writer Violette Leduc heralded as a great by Beauvoir Sartre Genet Camus erodes the divide between body and text in erotic literature In The Pleasures of the Text Elizabeth Locey sets herself the task of pinning down the often slippery ways in which pleasure is mapped onto the body of the reader and she confronts and challenges the philosophical debate between pornography and erotica The Pleasure In/of the Text Fabien Arribert-Narce, Endo Fuhito, Kamila Pawlikowska, 2021 Why do we read What exactly thrills us in the text Drawing on the work of Roland Barthes this collection explores the notion of readerly enjoyment between form and content emotion and reason and escapism and knowledge seeking to understand how literary and ideological pleasures intersect The Pleasure of the Text Roland Barthes, 1975-01-01 What is it that we do when we enjoy a text What is the pleasure of reading The French critic and theorist Roland Barthes s answers to these questions constitute perhaps for the first time in the history of criticism not only a poetics of reading but a much more difficult achievement an erotics of reading Like filings which gather to form a figure in a magnetic field the parts and pieces here do come together determined to affirm the pleasure we must take in our reading as against the indifference of mere knowledge Richard Howard The Pleasure of the Text Roland Barthes, 1975 What is it that we do when we enjoy a text What is the pleasure of reading The French critic and theorist Roland Barthes s answers to these questions constitute perhaps for the first time in the history of criticism not only a poetics of reading but a much more difficult achievement an erotics of reading Like filings which gather to form a figure in a magnetic field the parts and pieces here do come together determined to affirm the pleasure we must take in our reading as against the indifference of mere knowledge Richard Howard

Contemporary Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk,1993-01-01 The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it I R Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume Their work is organized into three parts In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address Part II focuses on individual theorists It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture      Signs of Change International Association for Philosophy and Literature.

Literary Theory and Criticism Patricia Waugh,2006 This volume offers a comprehensive account of modern literary criticism presenting the field as part of an ongoing historical and intellectual tradition Featuring thirty nine specially commissioned chapters from an international team of esteemed contributors it fills a large gap in the market by combining the accessibility of single authored selections with a wide range of critical perspectives The volume is divided into four parts Part One covers the key philosophical and aesthetic origins of literary theory while Part Two discusses the foundational movements and thinkers in the first half of the twentieth century Part Three offers introductory overviews of the most important movements and thinkers in modern literary theory and Part Four looks at emergent trends and future directions

Roland Barthes Graham Allen,2004-06-02 Roland Barthes is a central figure in the study of language literature culture and the media This book prepares readers for their first encounter with his crucial writings on some of the most important theoretical debates including existentialism and Marxism semiology or the language of signs structuralism and narrative analysis post structuralism deconstruction and the death of the author theories of the text and intertextuality Tracing his engagement with other key thinkers such as Sartre Saussure Derrida and Kristeva this volume offers a clear picture of Barthes work in context The in depth understanding of Barthes offered by this guide is essential to anyone reading contemporary critical theory     Inscriptions Hugh J. Silverman, 1997 Positioning itself within the Continental tradition Inscriptions is an interwoven set of investigations into the differences between phenomenology and structuralism and a cohesive and thoroughgoing inquiry into the contemporary status of Continental philosophy In Inscriptions Hugh J Silverman investigates two divergent yet related philosophical movements phenomenology from the later Husserl through Sartre and Heidegger to Merleau Ponty and structuralism from de Saussure through Levi Strauss and Lacan to Barthes This reading of the tradition culminates in an assessment of Derrida and Foucault From this foundation Silverman moves beyond structuralism and phenomenology and develops his own philosophical position in the context of semiotics hermeneutics and deconstruction A new preface by the author updates this classic text     For the Pleasure of the Text ... Jeremy Fernando, 2015-11-12 At the heart of this book lies attempts to read reading here being understood as the openness to the possibility of another a relation that occurs prior to any semantic or formal identification and therefore prior to any attempt at assimilating or appropriating what is being read to the one who reads Thus an event It opens with Lim Lee Ching's reading of this book a reading before your reading as it were And is followed by Jeremy Fernando's attempts to respond to the many Roland Barthes all whilst foregrounding the risk that even as one attempts to read as openness to the possibility of another all reading potentially re-writes the other that his reading may well be an inscribing of his R B that whilst reading it you may well be making your very own R B In the midst of which you will find a piano score composed by Jachin Pousson which is both a nod to the fact that Barthes was a pianist and also a note to the musicality of the thought of Roland Barthes The hope is that these readings bring open the possibility of pleasure not just for the one who reads but perhaps even for if one allows oneself to imagine the text For the one we call name can do nothing but name Roland Barthes     Producing Pleasure in the Contemporary University Stewart Riddle, Marcus K. Harmes, Patrick Alan Danaher, 2017-10-10 Academics working in contemporary universities are experiencing unprecedented and unsustainable pressure in an environment of hyper-performativity metrics and accountability From this perspective the university produces multiple tensions and moments of crises where it seems that there is limited space left for the intrinsic enjoyment arising from scholarly practices This book offers a global perspective on how pleasure is central to the endeavours of academics working in the contemporary university with contributors evaluating the opportunities for the strategic refusal of the quantifying stultifying and stupefying delimiters of what is possible for academic production The aim of this book is to open up spaces for conversation reflection and thought in order to think to be and to do differently pleasurably Contributors rupture the bounds of what is permissible and possible within their daily lives habits and practices As such this book addresses increasingly significant questions What are some of the multiple and different ways that we can reclaim pleasure and enhance the durations and intensities of our passions desires and becomings within the contemporary university How might these aspirations be realised What are the spaces for the pleasurable production of research that might be opened up How might we reconfigure the neoliberal university to be a place of more affect where desire laughter and joy join with the work that we seek to undertake and the communities whom we serve

The Poetics and Hermeneutics of Pain and Pleasure Bootheina Majoul, Hanene Baroumi, 2022-02-02 Pain and pleasure are at the heart of human experiences and literary journeys This book takes the title of Roland Barthes's text on the pleasure of writing as a starting point for the discussion of other different worlds and cartographies of pain and pleasure Set against the Aristotelian delineation of pleasure as the major principle that should govern a literary endeavor this volume investigates alternative reflections on the themes of pleasure and pain Thinking about the ways through which expressions of pain and pleasure may affect the writer and the reader as experiences of other pursuits of the human imagination can place or displace soothe or enrage and inspire or discourage the individual search for meaning By engaging with different theories and expressions it is possible to understand what pain and pleasure have done in the history of humanity rather than merely looking at them as representations of others distant experiences This volume entails new reflections on the expressions of pain and pleasure to create new meanings for these words in a world vying for expressions of power with and without bliss

The Ecstasies of Roland Barthes Mary Bittner Wiseman, 2016-08-19 In this book first published in 1989 Mary Bittner Wiseman interprets Roland Barthes's experiments as efforts to reposition the human subject with respect to language and to time in order to let the subject escape from the language of a particular culture and the present time With her insistent pushing against the boundaries of our standard academic assumptions Mary Bittner Wiseman succeeds in interpreting Barthes's effort to join the traditional and the new This title will be of interest to students of literature and philosophy

The Illicit Joyce of Postmodernism Kevin J. H. Dettmar, 1996 For nearly three quarters of a century the modernist way of reading has been the only way of reading James Joyce useful yes and powerful but like all frameworks limited This book takes a leap across those limits into postmodernism where the pleasures and possibilities of an unsuspected Joyce are yet to be found Kevin J H Dettmar begins by articulating a stylistics of postmodernism drawn from the key texts of Roland Barthes Mikhail Bakhtin and Jean Fran ois Lyotard Read within this framework Dubliners emerges from behind its modernist facade as the earliest product of Joyce's proto postmodernist sensibility Dettmar exposes these stories as tales of mystery not mastery despite the modernist earmarks of plentiful symbols allusions and epiphanies Ulysses too has been inadequately served by modernist critics Where they have emphasized the work's ingenious Homeric structure Dettmar focuses instead upon its seams those points at which the narrative willfully joyfully overflows its self imposed bounds Finally he reads A Portrait of the Artist and Finnegans Wake as less playful less daring texts the first constrained by the precious would be poet at its center the last marking a surprising retreat from the constantly evolving vertiginous experience of Ulysses In short The Illicit Joyce of Postmodernism explores what happens when the extra literary pronouncements of Eliot Pound and Joyce as well as Joyce's early critics are set aside and a new unauthorized Joyce is allowed to appear This postmodern Joyce more willful and less easily compartmentalized stands as a counterpoint to the modernist Joyce who has perhaps become too
