Plutonium Power And Politics:

Plutonium, Power, and Politics Gene I. Rochlin, 2024-06-14 In the early 1970s the major industrial states were preparing to shift to nuclear fission as their principal source of electrical power But that change has not occurred In part this is due to a growing public recognition that techniques and institutions for management of spent nuclear fuel separated plutonium and long lived radioactive wastes are not yet fully developed The consequent pressures for resolution have spurred a series of often ill defined and sometimes contradictory attempts to promote international cooperation and control of hazardous activities How are these varied suggestions to be compared and evaluated By what criteria can plans be selected that are likely to be both effective and negotiable In this study Gene I Rochlin physicist and social scientist explores the technical political and institutional aspects of international nuclear export and fuel cycle policies He categorizes existing proposals and suggests way to develop new ones that better promote both national and international goals Dr Rochlin argues neither for nor against the use of nuclear power or plutonium fuels Instead he addresses the question of how international arrangements could be reached that might jointly satisfy the objective of the several key nations yet not be too difficult to negotiate He concludes that a major fault has been the tendency to improvise arrangements for specific technical or industrial operations As a result overall social and political goals have become the bargaining points for compromise Yet attempts to simultaneously resolve all problems are unlikely to prove fruitful Dr Rochlin suggests instead the formation of institutions organized around more limited social political and technical objectives even at the expense of excluding some nations or omitting some aspects of the nuclear fuel cycle Only by so doing he argues can immediate agreements be reached that preserve the potential for more comprehensive future arrangements without sacrificing industrial environmental or nonproliferation goals This important book will be of interest to scientists social scientists government officials and others concerned with the problems of plutonium management and nuclear wastes This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1979

Energy, the Modern State, and the American World System George A. Gonzalez,2018-03-01 In this provocative and original study George A Gonzalez argues that the relationship between energy and the state as well as global politics has become more and more deeply intertwined reaching something of a crescendo with the global hegemony of Pax Americana in the twentieth and early twenty first centuries He presents a clear and concise case for viewing the modern state as the collaborative and affirmative union of capitalism and political authority in a setting where energy resources be it wind coal or oil provide the basis for the relatively inexpensive projection of political power More broadly energy serves as the foundation of the modern economy and because of this a prime function of the modern state is ensuring access to cheap reliable sources to power and grow the economy Historically energy is more of a zero sum resource than capital markets labor or technology and thus is a greater source of geopolitical tension and violence Energy politics and by extension international politics is moreover shaped by domestic corporate elites especially those within the United States The Korean Peninsula and

Indo-Pacific Power Politics Jagannath P. Panda,2020-03-03 This book assesses the strategic linkages that the Korean Peninsula shares with the Indo Pacific and provides a succinct picture of issues which will shape the trajectory of the Korean Peninsula in the future This book analyses how critical actors such as the United States China Russia and Japan are caught in a tightly balanced power struggle affecting the Korean Peninsula It shows how these countries are exerting control over the Korean Peninsula while also holding on to their status as critical actors in the broader Indo Pacific The prospects of peace stability and unity in the Korean Peninsula and the impact of this on Indo Pacific power politics are explored as well as the contending and competing interests in the region Chapters present country specific positions and approaches as case studies and review the impact of power politics on stakeholders relationships in the Indo Pacific The book also argues that the Korean Peninsula and the issue of denuclearization is of primary importance to any direction an Indo Pacific Partnership may take Bringing together scholars journalists and ex diplomats this book will be of interest to academics working in the field of international relations foreign policy security studies and Asian studies as well as audiences interested Consultation and Concurrence ,1980 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1953-05 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier
