Reflective Reading and the Power of Narrative Karyn Sproles, 2018-07-11 Reflective Reading and the Power of Narrative Producing the Reader is an interdisciplinary exploration into the profound power of narratives to create and recreate how we imagine ourselves. It posits that the process of producing a text also produces the reader. Written from the perspective of a psychoanalytic feminist, Sproles considers a wide array of examples from literature, popular culture, and her own experiences to illustrate what she calls reflective reading: a metacognitive reading practice that recognizes the workings of the unconscious to push the reader toward a potentially transformational engagement with narrative. This may manifest as epiphany, recovery from loss, or resolution of repressed trauma. Each chapter draws on examples of characters and authors who model a reflective reading process, from Jane Austen and Virginia Woolf to Johnny Cash and Alison Bechdel. By reclaiming the role of the unconscious, Karyn Sproles reinvigorates the theoretical work begun by reader response criticism and develops a deep understanding of identification and transference as an integral part of the reading process. For students and researchers of cultural studies, psychoanalysis, gender studies, and feminist literature and theory, Reflective Reading and the Power of Narrative offers innovative and accessible ideas on the relationship between reader and text. Children and Biography Kate Douglas, 2022-08-25 The first study of life narratives produced for and written by children, this book examines the recent popularity of children's biographies and how they engage with the biggest issues of our time: environmental change, health crises, education, and children's personal and political development. Beginning with a literary historical overview, Children and Biography proceeds to examine 21st-century examples and trends, such as illustrated texts including Women in Science, the Fantastically Great Women Who Changed the World books, Rebel Dogs, Goodnight Stories for Rebel Girls, Kids Who Did It, My Beautiful Bird, and The Journey. The book also considers archives of children's writings and drawings, in particular the testimonies of child asylum seekers, children's biographical art, and lockdown diaries produced during the COVID-19 pandemic. By analyzing these works alongside empirical studies into how such material is received by child readers and how texts generated by children are perceived both by them and their parents, this book provides new knowledge on how biographies for children are produced and read. Comprehensive and original, Children and Biography presents an ethical methodological framework for scholarly practice when reading, witnessing, and interpreting children's life narratives. The book offers a mandate for future researchers to place children's voices and writing at the centre of inquiries in ways that facilitate genuine agency for child authors.

Colonial America in Literature for Youth Joy L. Lowe, Kathryn I. Matthew, 2003 In this book, Colonial America is defined as the years from 1607 when Jamestown was founded to 1776 when the American Revolution began following the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The focus of the book is on the English settlements that fought for independence from England and became the United States of America.
