

Basic Harp Technique

Almost any way of holding the harmonica that feels comfortable to you is okay to use. But if you want to be able to use the important hand effect technically known as the "wah wah", hold it in your left hand as pictured, numbers on top, with the lowest note (the #1 hole) to the left.

Notes and Chords

Playing any one hole at a time, either inhaling or exhaling, produces what is called a note. Playing two or more holes at a time will produce a chord. Your mouth will

Close Your Nose

Try to breathe through your mouth only when playing — it's a good habit to develop. If you're not sure how to do that, think about blowing out the candles on a birthday cake, or drinking a thickshake through a straw — if your nose weren't shut, you couldn't do either one very well.

So hold the harmonica as pictured at left, and try not to let any air escape through your nose while you breathe in and out through the holes of your harmonica.

Single notes? If you can already get 'em, good for you. If you can't, don't worry about them too much, yet. Just breathe in and out through your harp for a minute, and then go on to the next box.
