Plato's Power, 2025-02-03 What do we mean when we say that something has power Plato's dialogues are probably the first philosophical corpus to address this question Powers are causes they account for how events happen They are properties that agents have as well as dispositions in those who suffer the effects of an action This explanation is the basis of Plato's metaphysics and moral philosophy He proposed that things are the power they have to act or be acted upon this is their nature This book brings together a group of specialists to guide the reader through this fascinating theory

Evaluating Communication for Development June Lennie, Jo Tacchi, 2013-02-11 Evaluating Communication for Development presents a comprehensive framework for evaluating communication for development C4D This framework combines the latest thinking from a number of fields in new ways It critiques dominant instrumental accountability based approaches to development and evaluation and offers an alternative holistic participatory mixed methods approach based on systems and complexity thinking and other key concepts It maintains a focus on power gender and other differences and social norms The authors have designed the framework as a way to focus on achieving sustainable social change and to continually improve and develop C4D initiatives The benefits and rigour of this approach are supported by examples and case studies from a number of action research and evaluation capacity development projects undertaken by the authors over the past fifteen years Building on current arguments within the fields of C4D and development the authors reinforce the case for effective communication being a central and vital component of participatory forms of development something that needs to be appreciated by decision makers They also consider ways of increasing the effectiveness of evaluation capacity development from grassroots to management level in the development context an issue of growing importance to improving the quality effectiveness and utilisation of monitoring and evaluation studies in this field The book includes a critical review of the key approaches methodologies and methods that are considered effective for planning evaluation assessing the outcomes of C4D and engaging in continuous learning This rigorous book is of immense theoretical and practical value to students scholars and professionals researching or working in development communication and media applied anthropology and evaluation and program planning

Organizational Control Mechanisms Rajendra Prasad Singh,1988 People seem to be either or thinkers either this must be true or that must be true As opposed to this there are people who believe that nothing is absolutely true and it is the time and the place which will determine the choice of an idea or a strategy The approach of this book is opposed to both these extremes and alternatively takes a position which may be termed dialectical It posits the possibility that both X and not X may be true at the same time and place It conceives of social reality in the critical conflict perspective and presents a model of behaviour control mechanisms that may be effective in an organizational context Besides being useful to the managers and union leaders of various government and non government manufacturing and service organizations it has attempted to steer out a theoretical approach that may be adopted in understanding predicting and controlling the behaviour of personnel of any hierarchy in a organization
