D. Dunbabin, 1999 This book provides a comprehensive account of mosaics in the ancient world from the early pebble mosaics of Greece to the pavements of Christian churches in the East Separate chapters in Part I cover the principal regions of the Roman Empire in turn in order to bring out the distinctive characteristics of their mosaic workshops Questions of technique and production of the role of mosaics in architecture and of their social functions and implications are treated in Part II The book discusses both well known works and recent finds and balances consideration of exceptional masterpieces against standard workshop production Two main lines of approach are followed throughout first the role of mosaics as a significant art form which over an unbroken span illuminates the evolution of pictorial style better than any comparable surviving medium and secondly their character as works of artisan production closely linked to their architectural context The Romanization of Provincial Art Nancy J.

Mactague,1996 Art and Society in Fourth-century Britain Sarah Scott,2000 This volume builds upon the copious and varied research on villa mosaics in Roman Britain and evaluates it within the context of elite social life in the 4th century AD It argues that the mosaics were an integral part of the rich lifestyle of the elite in this period and played an important role in defining their status Yet these symbols of power were apparently no longer valued to the same degree by the end of the 4th century In a period of increasing social and economic instability the mosaics were one element in an elite lifestyle which was ultimately to prove socially diversive In this wide ranging study Scott considers the significance and long term impact of the artistic choices made by villa owners
