

Characteristics of naturalistic inquiry

- Purposive sampling: try to choose a sample that gives you the widest range, to include as much information as possible (maximum variation sampling). Sampling is emergent; serial; continually focused and selected to the point of redundancy
- Inductive data analysis.
- Grounded theory: theory that emerges from the data and that “explains” the data. Negative case analysis
- Emergent design: “Tell me what questions I need to ask, and then answer them for me”. Emerges through continuous data analysis, interactions, peer debriefing, journals.

Naturalistic Inquiry:

Naturalistic Inquiry Yvonna S. Lincoln, Egon G. Guba, 1985-04 Showing how science is limited by its dominant mode of investigation Lincoln and Guba propose an alternative paradigm a naturalistic rather than rationalistic method of inquiry in which the investigator avoids manipulating research outcomes A paradigm shift is under way in many fields they contend and go on to describe the different assumptions of the two approaches regarding the nature of reality subject object interaction the possibility of generalization the concept of causality and the role of values The authors also offer guidance for research in the field where they say naturalistic inquiry always takes place Useful tips are given for example on designing a study as it unfolds establishing trustworthiness and writing a case report This book helps researchers both to understand and to do naturalistic inquiry Of particular interest to educational researchers it is valuable for all social scientists involved with questions of qualitative and quantitative methodology
