Passe Rose:

Atlantic Monthly, 1889      The Atlantic Monthly, 1888      A Library of American Literature from Earliest Settlement to the Present Time Edmund Clarence Stedman, Ellen Mackay Hutchinson, 1894      Partonopeus de Blois Penny Eley, 2011

First book length treatment of a fascinating medieval French romance underlining its influence in the genre Partonopeus de Blois is one of the most important works of twelfth century French fiction it shaped the development of romance as a genre gave rise to adaptations in several other medieval languages and even an opera Massenet's Esclarmonde However partly because of its complicated transmission history and partly due to the fact that it has been overshadowed by the works of Chr tien de Troyes it has been unjustly neglected This firstfull length study of the romance brings together literary historical and manuscript studies to explore its making as it evolved through seven medieval editions the earliest of which probably predated most of Chr tien s romances The book s thematic analyses show how the Partonopeus poet applied established techniques of rewriting to a wide range of classical vernacular and Celtic sources combining this literary fusion with political subtexts to create a new and influential model of romance composition Detailed studies of the Continuation reveal more ambitious experimentation by the original author as well as the activities of a series of editors who continued to modify the text for over a century A final discussion of patronage proposes a new reading of the poem s distinct narratorial interventions on women and love and suggests a link between Partonopeus and a disturbing episode in the history of Blois Penny Eley is Professor of Medieval French at the University of Sheffield
