Anthony J. Kelly, 2012-06-01 God is love and he who abides in love abides in God and God abides in him 1 John 4 16 In this famous passage St John expresses the heart of the Christian faith and the essence of the Christian image of God In the same verse he also offers a kind of summary of the Christian life We have come to know and to believe in the love God has for us In God Is Love Anthony Kelly CSSR takes this phrase as a concise and profound expression and unpacks it for thinking Christians today He explores seven ideas that are necessarily implied in the love that God is the Trinitarian terms Father Son and Holy Spirit the cross and resurrection as events within the paschal mystery the church as the revelation of God's love being worked out in history and finally the ultimate hope for eternal life and heaven itself      J. Bevan Braithwaite, a Friend of the Nineteenth Century Anna Lloyd Braithwaite Thomas, Anna Braithwaite Thomas, 1909      Praxis and Action Richard J. Bernstein, 2011-06-03 From the Introduction This inquiry is concerned with the themes of praxis and action in four philosophic movements Marxism existentialism pragmatism and analytic philosophy It is rare that these four movements are considered in a single inquiry for there are profound differences of emphasis focus terminology and approach represented by these styles of thought Many philosophers believe that similarities among these movements are superficial and that a close examination of them will reveal only hopelessly unbridgeable cleavages While respecting the genuine fundamental differences of these movements this inquiry is undertaken in the spirit of showing that there are important common themes and motifs in what first appears to be a chaotic babble of voices I intend to show that the concern with man as an agent has been a primary focal point of each of these movements and further that each contributes something permanent and important to our understanding of the nature and context of human activity      Work of Love Leonard J.

DeLorenzo, 2017-02-02 The saints are good company They are the heroes of the faith who blazed new and creative paths to holiness they are the witnesses whose testimonies echo throughout the ages in the memory of the Church Most Christians and particularly Catholics are likely to have their own favorite saints those who inspire and speak to believers as they pray and struggle through the challenges of their own lives Leonard DeLorenzo's book addresses the idea of the communion of saints rather than individual saints with the conviction that what makes the saints holy and what forms them into a communion is one and the same Work of Love investigates the issue of communication within the communio sanctorum and the fullness of Christian hope in the face of the meaning or meaninglessness of death In an effort to revitalize a theological topic that for much of Catholic history has been an indelible part of the Catholic imaginary DeLorenzo invokes the ideas of not only many theological figures Rahner Ratzinger Balthasar and de Lubac among others but also historians philosophers notably Heidegger and Nietzsche and literary figures Rilke and Dante to create a rich tableau By working across several disciplines DeLorenzo argues for a vigorous renewal in the Christian imagination of the theological concept of the communion of saints He concludes that the embodied witness of the saints themselves as well as the liturgical and devotional movements of the Church at prayer testifies to the central importance of the communion of saints as the eschatological hope and fulfillment of the promises of Christ      The Collected Works of J. Krishnamurti, (1966-1967) Jiddu Krishnamurti, 1992
