Canonical Texts Of English Literary Criticism With Selections From Classical Poeticians Rangoon Kapoor, 2004-10 God and Passion in Kierkegaard's Climacus Johannes Corrodi Katzenstein, 2007 Johannes Corrodi Katzenstein offers a contribution to the current debate on Kierkegaard mostly concerning the rationality of religious belief and the presumed religious neutrality autonomy of philosophical and scientific thought More specifically his book is an attempt to relate Kierkegaard s theory of the stages of life aesthetic ethical religious to issues that have been of utmost concern to Anglo American analytical philosophy such as the nature of truth rational knowledge objectivity etc From this angle Kierkegaard turns out to be not the irrationalist he has often been made into but rather the outspoken witness of a passion that guides all thinking i e the passion to think what cannot be thought An attempt is made to show that for Kierkegaard anticipating some of the arguments of contemporary postsecular philosophy the ideal of pure or autonomous reason inevitably has its basis in a pre rational often tacit commitment to an origin whose primary home is in religious faith Rather than precluding dialogue awareness of these deeper forces and starting points of our various philosophical and scientific outlooks is a critical requirement for mutual understanding between secularist and religious perspectives and traditions competing for cultural and political dominance

Compassion in Early Christianity Susan Wessel, 2016-06-09 This book examines how the early Christian elite articulated and cultivated the affective dimensions of compassion in a Roman world that promoted emotional tranquillity as the path to human flourishing Drawing upon a wide range of early Christians from both east and west Wessel situates each author in the broader cultural and intellectual context The reader is introduced to the diverse conditions in which Christians felt and were urged to feel compassion in exemplary ways and in which warnings were sounded against the possibilities for distortion and exploitation Wessel argues that the early Christians developed literary methods and rhetorical techniques to bring about appropriate emotional responses to human suffering Their success in this regard marks the beginning of affective compassion as a Christian virtue Comparison with early modern and contemporary philosophers and ethicists further demonstrates the intrinsic worth of the early Christian understanding of compassion

Passions and Projections Robert N. Johnson, Michael Smith, 2015-01-08 This volume presents fourteen original essays which explore the philosophy of Simon Blackburn one of the UK's most influential contemporary philosophers Blackburn is best known to the general public for his attempts to make philosophy accessible to those with little or no formal training but in professional circles his reputation is based on a lifetime pursuit of his distinctive version of a projectivist and anti realist research program As he sees things we must always try first to understand and explain what we are doing when we think and talk as we do This research program reaches into nearly all of the main areas of philosophy metaphysics epistemology philosophy of mind moral philosophy and moral psychology The books and articles he has written provide us with perhaps the most comprehensive statement and defense of projectivism and anti realism since Hume The essays collected here document the range and influence of Blackburn's work They reveal among other things the resourcefulness of his distinctive brand of philosophical pragmatism
