

The background of the entire image is a tropical beach scene at sunset. A large palm tree trunk and fronds are visible on the right side, leaning towards the center. In the lower-left foreground, the silhouettes of a man and a woman are standing close together, looking out at the ocean. The sky is a deep orange-red, and the water reflects the sunset colors.

Watching from the sidelines, their friend Sylvester regrets that Jane should be loved and bullied and perhaps even murdered by that frightful Jessica but decides it's none of his business. Each case study includes the voices of leaders, teachers, and their students, providing insights into their practices, beliefs, and perceptions of mathematics and technology-enabled teaching. These insights inform an exciting new theoretical model, the Technology Integration Pyramid, for guiding teachers and researchers as they endeavour to understand the complexities involved in planning for effective teaching with technology. This book is a unique resource for educational researchers and students studying primary and secondary mathematics teaching, as well as practising mathematics teachers. In a Dark Time Joseph Dewey, 1990 What was gunpowder? Trivial. What was electricity? Meaningless. This atomic bomb is the Second Coming in wrath. Winston Churchill, July 1945. Commencing earnestly in the 1960s, the American novel began its exploration into how mankind could adjust to life in the shadow of the mushroom cloud. How we could begin to think about the Unthinkable. American writers faced squarely the age birthed by nuclear physics and found in its very darkness difficult avenues to hope by rediscovering that most potent traditional response to a history in crisis the apocalyptic temper Dewey focuses on seven novels that touch the variety of generic experiments and postures of the post World War II American novel These novels by Vonnegut Coover Percy Pynchon Gaddis and DeLillo represent a significant argument concerning the American literary response to living within the oppressive technologies of the Nuclear Age Departing from other studies that veer toward speculative fiction or toward the more narrowly defined religious angles In a Dark Time defines the apocalyptic temper as a most traditional literary genre that articulates the anxieties of a community in crisis a way for that community to respond to the perception of a history gone critical by turning squarely to that history and to find in that gesture the way toward a genuine hope Dewey's new approach consists of applying the theory of apocalyptic literature to a body of essentially secular writings Dewey resists the traditional approach studying works dealing with nuclear devastation to focus on how a generation of literary responses have dealt with the larger questions about how to live with the recognition of End times Dewey convincingly demonstrates that this literature reminds its moments in history that only in a dark time will the eye begin to see
