The End of the World Ernesto de Martino,2023-11-29 A philosopher historian of religions and anthropologist Ernesto De Martino is often glossed as ahead of his time In his work a reader sees the roots of psychological and medical anthropology discussions of reflexivity and the role of the ethnographer considerations of colonialism and migration and the trauma they might engender and an anticipation of the existential turn in anthropology A reader would also find an attentiveness to hope and possibility despite the gloomy title of his posthumously published book La fine del mondo The End of the World Perhaps the end of the world is an overstatement But in a rapidly globalizing world one in which the entire earth becomes our shared cultural homeland despite our different values and local histories the end of the world might simply mean the end of a world our particular world and the dawning of something new the world of tomorrow De Martino seeks in part to make the idea of the end of a world less horrifying while at the same time attending to the individual loss of self that one might feel in contemplating an apocalypse especially as modernization has divorced us from the rituals and folklore that might make such an eventuality less terrifying De Martino writes Two opposed terrors dominate our age the terror of losing the world and the terror of being lost in the world The end of the world the loss of presence Interweaving the cultural and individual levels of apocalypse treating subjects both classic and contemporary and both European and non Western ranging across ethnography and philosophy De

Cases on the Law of Contracts George Purcell Costigan (Jr.), 1921

The Enforceability of Promises in European Contract Law James Gordley, 2001-07-12 Civil law and common law systems are held to enforce promises differently civil law in principle will enforce any promise while common law will enforce only those with consideration In that respect modern civil law supposedly differs from the Roman law from which it descended where a promise was enforced depending on the type of contract the parties had made This 2001 volume is concerned with the extent to which these characterizations are true and how these and other differences affect the enforceability of promises Beginning with a concise history of these distinctions the volume then considers how twelve European legal systems would deal with fifteen concrete situations Finally a comparative section considers why legal systems enforce certain promises and not others and what promises should be enforced This is the second completed project of The Common Core of European Private Law launched at the University of Trento

The Rhetoric of Remembrance Jerry Hwang, 2012-05-09 To whom is Moses speaking in Deuteronomy This question is controversial in OT scholarship Some passages in Deuteronomy indicate that Moses is addressing the first exodus generation that witnessed Horeb Deut 5 3 4 while other passages point to the second exodus generation that survived the wilderness Deut 1 35 2 14 16 Redaction critics such as Thomas R Mer and John Van Seters view the chronological problems in Deuteronomy as evidence of multiple tradition layers Although other scholars have suggested that Deuteronomy's conflation of chronology is a rhetorical move to unify Israel's generations no analysis has thus far explored in detail how the blending of you and the fathers functions as a rhetorical device However a rhetorical approach to the fathers is especially appropriate in light of three features of Deuteronomy First a rhetorical approach recognizes that the repetitiveness of the Deuteronomic style is a homiletical strategy designed to inculcate the audience with memory The book is shot through with exhortations for Israel to remember the past Second a rhetorical approach recognizes that collective memory entails the transformation of the past through actualization for the present Third a rhetorical approach to Deuteronomy accords well with the book's self presentation as the words that Moses spoke 1 1 The book of Deuteronomy assumes a canonical posture by embedding the means of its own oral and written propagation thereby ensuring that the voice of Moses speaking in the book of Deuteronomy resounds in Israel's ears as a perpetually authoritative speech act The Rhetoric of Remembrance demonstrates that Deuteronomy depicts the corporate solidarity of Israel in the land promised to the fathers part 1 under the sovereignty of the same God of the fathers across the nation's history part 2 as governed by a timeless covenant of the fathers between YHWH and his people part 3 In the narrative world of Deuteronomy the fathers begin as the patriarchs while frequently scrolling forward in time to include every generation that has received YHWH's promises but nonetheless continues to await their fulfillment Hwang's study is an insightful innovative approach that addresses crucial aspects of the Deuteronomic style with a view to the theological effect of that style Jerry Hwang Ph D Wheaton College serves as Assistant Professor of Old Testament at Singapore Bible College

The Future Inheritance of Land in the Pauline Epistles Miguel G. Echevarria Jr., 2019-01-25 The Apostle Paul's vision of eternity is centered on the inheritance theme Although Paul rarely unpacks this concept he employs the inheritance in a manner that encompasses the hope of a renewed cosmos promised to Abraham and his descendants Thus the apostle does not redefine a theme grounded in the Old Testament and

Second Temple literature as if it now referred to heaven or some other spiritualized existence He expects what every pious Jew expected the tangible fulfillment of the promise when at last God's people will dwell in a land where they will experience rest under the rule of Messiah What Paul clarifies is that those who are in Christ are the beneficiaries of the inheritance Although believers do not currently possess what has been promised to them they have the hope that the Spirit will lead them on a new exodus through the wilderness of the present sinful age until they inherit the coming world The

Promissio Oswald Bayer, 2025-07-22 Promissio is a methodologically rigorous study of all the pertinent Luther texts prior to 1520 thus enabling Bayer to trace Luther's reformational turn culminating in his clear understanding of the gospel promise as God's gift crystallized in the forgiveness of sins and enacted by the word of absolution The author emphasizes that at the heart of Luther's understanding of the gospel is the insight that God justifies us freely through faith in the word of promise promissio and that this promise is not oriented primarily to the future but is a present gift to be received in faith However he shows that it is not the understanding of justification by faith that is at the center of Luther's breakthrough but the insight that God's promise is an efficacious word that accomplishes what it says and that justification can only be properly understood in the light of the promise Bayer shows how Luther comes to see that the promise requires a reshaping of the sacrament of penance confession and absolution as well as Baptism and the Lord's Supper Luther's new understanding of promise also leads him to radically rethink his understanding of Christology the sermon meditation and prayer When this book was first published in 1971 it was hailed by the Roman Catholic scholar Otto Hermann Pesch as a classic of Luther research and that claim still holds good today No serious Luther scholar can afford to ignore it It has also remained the foundation of all Oswald Bayer's subsequent work The Lutheran Quarterly Books edition of Promissio now offers scholars and students this wisdom in English thanks to Jeffrey Silcock's careful translation Mind, 1929 A quarterly review of philosophy Control and Restructuring Thomas Grano, 2015 This book uses data from English Mandarin Chinese and Modern Greek to develop a new theory of control structures that relates them to restructuring and the semantics of the embedding verb The theory has implications both for clausal structure and for the relationship between form and meaning in natural language
