

The background of the slide is a detailed historical painting depicting a bustling outdoor market. In the foreground, several figures are visible, including a man in a red tunic and a woman in a blue dress. They are surrounded by various stalls and goods. The middle ground is filled with a dense crowd of people, some standing and others sitting, engaged in market activities. The background shows a landscape with rolling hills and a few distant buildings under a pale sky. The overall style is characteristic of 17th-century Dutch or Flemish painting.

Past And The Present Revisited:

The Past and the Present Revisited Lawrence Stone, 2014-07-22 First Published in 1987 Presented as two sections the first includes three surveys which aim to describe and comment on some of radical changes in the questions historians have been asking about the past and some of the new data tools and methodology they have developed to answer them The second is a collection of essays that were originally reflective book reviews and are concerned with the theme of how and why did Western Europe change itself during the sixteenth seventeenth and eighteenth centuries so as to lay the social economic scientific political ideological and ethical foundations for the rationalist democratic individualistic technological industrialized society in which we now live The First Modern Society Lawrence Stone, A. L. Beier, 1989-07-06 Intended to celebrate the 70th birthday of the distinguished historian Lawrence Stone these essays owe much to his influence There are also four appreciations by friends and colleagues from Oxford and Princeton and a little known autobiographical piece by Lawrence Stone himself Past and present, 1691-1895 Cambridge city, Emmanuel congregational ch, 1895 In

Defence of Modernity Efraim Podoksik, 2003 Although Oakeshott's philosophy has received considerable attention the vision which underlies it has been almost completely ignored This vision which is rooted in the intellectual debates of his epoch cements his ideas into a coherent whole and provides a compelling defence of modernity The main feature of Oakeshott's vision of modernity is seen here as radical plurality resulting from fragmentation of experience and society On the level of experience modernity denies the existence of the hierarchical medieval scheme and argues that there exist independent ways of understanding our world such as science and history which cannot be reduced to each other On the level of society modernity finds expression in liberal doctrine according to which society is an aggregate of individuals each pursuing his or her own choices For Oakeshott to be modern means not only to recognise this condition of radical plurality but also to learn to appreciate and enjoy it Oakeshott did not think that it was possible to find a comprehensive philosophical justification for modernity therefore the only way to preserve modern civilisation seemed to be an appeal to sentiment As a consequence he was a passionate defender of liberal education as the best way to underwrite the conversation of mankind

Making History Peter Lambert, Phillipp Schofield, 2004-08-02 Making History offers a fresh perspective on the study of the past It is an exhaustive exploration of the practice of history historical traditions and the theories that surround them Discussing the development and growth of history as a discipline and of the profession of the historian the book encompasses a huge diversity of influences organized around the following themes the professionalization of the discipline the most significant movements in historical scholarship in the last century including the Annales School the increasing interdisciplinary trends in scholarship theory in historical practice including Marxism post modernism and gender history historical practice outside the academy The volume offers a coherent set of chapters to support undergraduates postgraduates and others interested in the historical processes that have shaped the discipline of history Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing Kelly Boyd, 2019-10-09 The Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing contains over 800 entries ranging from Lord Acton and Anna Comnena to Howard Zinn and from Herodotus to Simon Schama Over 300 contributors from around the world have composed critical assessments of historians from the beginning of historical writing to the present day including individuals from related disciplines like Jürgen Habermas and Clifford Geertz whose theoretical contributions have informed historical debate Additionally the Encyclopedia includes some 200 essays treating the development of national regional and topical historiographies from the Ancient Near East to the history of sexuality In addition to the Western tradition it includes substantial assessments of African Asian and Latin American historians and debates on gender and subaltern studies

Biography and Education Michael Erben, 2005-08-12 Over recent years biographical studies have gained an increasingly important place in academic study The two are inextricably linked Education uses biography in teaching and in biography education features strongly as a formative stage in personal development This book elaborates on the analytical work that has drawn attention to biography and education and seeks to expand the understanding of lives in educational contexts Mainstream sociology has been quick to embrace this treatment of individuals as biographical appearances but it is even more relevant in the field of education

Historical Research Bill McDowell, 2013-11-04 This is the first practical guide to cover the various stages of a history research project from the selection of the topic and the organization and interpretation of source material through to the completion of the written up record Whether it is for a dissertation thesis article or indeed full length book Historical Research deals with the purpose of research and the implications limitations and benefits of different research methods as well as the effective presentation of the finished result

Social History Miles Fairburn, 1999-05-26 Drawing examples from some of the classic works in the discipline Miles Fairburn examines the nature varieties schools and evolution of social history Intended for advanced students and practising social historians who see social history as a problem solving discipline the methodological problems examined include the absence of social categories fragmenting evidence the appraisal of rival explanations the use of socially constructed evidence to substantiate claims about realities how to avoid presentism and when its practice is justifiable how to distinguish important causes and how to tell similarities from differences

'Preserving the Perishable' R. B. Dobson, 1991-04-26 Inaugural lecture which argues that although the financial restrictions of the 1980s have fallen disproportionately on medievalists within British universities the discipline is on the verge of an interesting future

Periodic Table, The: Past, Present, And Future Geoff Rayner-canham, 2020-08-04 This is an absolutely wonderful book that is full of gems about the elements and the periodic table All in all the book is highly recommended to philosophers of chemistry As philosophers we have a natural tendency to concentrate on generalities and not to get too involved in the specifics and the details Above all else this new book reminds us that such an approach needs to be tempered by a detailed knowledge of the exceptions and features that go against the simplified generalities which we so cherish Read Full Review

Eric Scerri Foundations of Chemistry Many questions are dealt with in a clearly written way in this stimulating and innovative book The reader will quickly become interested in the subject and will be taken on tour through this Periodic Table in a very readable way both for students and teachers The number of illustrations is good and clear This book is indeed unique and quite thought provoking This book is highly recommended for students teachers researchers and not only chemists Geologists biochemist and also physicists will find it very interesting to read Read Full Review Chemistry International That fossilized chart on every classroom wall isn't that The Periodic Table Isn't that what Mendel ever devised about a century ago No and No There are many ways of organizing the chemical elements some of which are thought provoking and which reveal philosophical challenges Where does hydrogen belong Can an element occupy more than one location on the chart Which are the Group 3 elements Is aluminum in the wrong place Why is silver I like thallium I Why is vanadium like molybdenum Why does gold form an auride ion like a halide ion Does an atom know if it is a non metal or metal Which elements are the metalloids Which are the triels So many questions In this stimulating and innovative book the Reader will be taken on a voyage from the past to the present to the future of the Periodic Table This book is unique This book is readable This book is thought provoking It is a multi dimensional examination of patterns and trends among the chemical elements Every reader will discover something about the chemical elements which will provoke thought and a new appreciation as to how the elements relate together

Memory and Remembering in Early Irish Literature Sarah Künzler, 2023-12-04 Ireland possesses an early and exceptionally rich medieval vernacular tradition in which memory plays a key role What attitudes to remembering and forgetting are expressed in secular early Irish texts How do the texts conceptualise the past and what does this conceptualisation tell us about the present and future Who mediates and validates different versions of the past and how is future remembrance guaranteed This study approaches such questions through close readings of individual texts It centres on three major aspects of medieval Irish memory culture places and landscapes the provision of information about the past by miraculously old eye witnesses and the personal social and cultural impact of forgetting The discussions shed light on the relationship between memory and forgetting and explore the connections between the past present and future This shows the fascinating spatio temporal identity constructions in medieval Ireland and links the Irish texts to the broader European world The monograph makes this rich literary sources available to an interdisciplinary audience and is of interest to both a general medievalist audience and those working in Cultural Memory Studies
