Israel's Past Bob Becking, 2021-10-04 How should one write a history of Ancient Israel In the last few decades a lively discussion has taken place on the historiography of ancient Israel Minimalists such as Philip Davies Thomas Thompson and Niels Peter Lemche challenged the usefulness of the Hebrew Bible as a source for constructing Israel's past Maximalists like Baruch Halpern and William Dever argued instead that the data from the Hebrew Bible should be trusted until otherwise proven Others among whom we can name Hans Barstad Rainer Albertz and Lester Grabbe took a third road The essays in this volume follow that third road by applying insights from the field of philosophy of history A dozen case studies from David to the earliest Samaritans demonstrate how difficult it is to write a history of ancient Israel without falling in the abyss of an ideology in one direction or another The matrix designed by Manfred Weippert to look at the past through five windows landscape climate archaeology epigraphy and only at the end the Hebrew Bible turned out to be more helpful The conclusion of this research is that there are some stable pillars in the swamp of the past but it comes with the warning that the space between these pillars is large and cannot easily be filled

Channeling the Past Erik Christiansen, 2013-03-15 After the turmoil of the Great Depression and World War II Americans looked to the nation s more distant past for lessons to inform its uncertain future By applying recent and emerging techniques in mass communication including radio and television programs and commercial book clubs American elites working in media commerce and government used history to confer authority on their respective messages With insight and wit Erik Christiansen uncovers in Channeling the Past the ways that powerful corporations rewrote history to strengthen the postwar corporate state while progressives communists and other leftists vied to make their own versions of the past more popular Christiansen looks closely at several notable initiatives CBS s flashback You Are There program the Smithsonian Museum of American History constructed in the late 1950s the Cavalcade of America program sponsored by the Du Pont Company the History Book Club and the Freedom Train a museum on rails that traveled the country from 1947 to 1949 exhibiting historic documents and flags including original copies of the U S Constitution and the Magna Carta It is often said that history is written by the victors but Christiansen offers a more nuanced perspective history is constantly remade to suit the objectives of those with the resources to do it He provides dramatic evidence of sophisticated calculations that influenced both public opinion and historical memory and shows that Americans relationships with the past changed as a result
