I told that Pat Metheny a few years ago in Wichita, Kansas, while hanging around backstage waiting for a concert to begin. Pat introduced himself and said he was from Lee's Summit, Missouri. He also said he knew most of my group's tunes and wanted to sit in. "In school, is he looking? This kid who looked about fourteen, at best, both everywhere... there in the middle of Kansas? Then, he proceeded to lay down one of my early records (with Bob Moses, in fact). That first influenced him to take up the guitar and try jazz music. A great compliment, of course, but I was still skeptical and feeling older by the minute. But, after I heard him, I had to admit he played pretty well, an incredible blend of Missouri, hip, chops, and all those teeth.

Well, you just can't help liking this kid, and he is persistent. He kept turning up, one place or another, and soon, Pat moved to Boston guitar heaven, or the opposite, depending on your viewpoint (there are more guitarists in Boston than anywhere on earth).

It was impossible to resist the opportunity so as soon as we slumbered on to the combination of electric 12-string guitar along with our regular guitar-oriented quartet, we featured a two-guitar quartet. That was two years ago when Pat, with Moses, and I also invited the first meeting of Pat with Bob Moses, who had received our group at that time. Since then, Pat's already impressive talent has been growing wonderfully, knocking out everyone whenever we go.

Unknown to me until recently, Pat's counterpart on bass, Jaco Pastorius, an equally startling young player and a true innovator on electric bass, had already met up with Pat playing some time spent in Florida. Because of the similarity of their respective talents, they're a great match, and over the past year their occasional trio gigs around the east coast have really developed their playing rapport, as is apparent in this recording.

The third force on the trio is Bob Moses, the drummer from our quartet, and a long-time friend. The personal friendship between Moses and Pat since they began playing together is another big plus for this record, of course, and I can't say enough about how much we all admire Bob's playing... his originality and ability to support everything that goes on and among the things that he does superbly.

I personally feel this is a great record and recommend it to everyone. It's positive and hot and simply excellent.

Pat Metheny Mervyn Cooke, 2017 The guitarist and composer Pat Metheny ranks among the most popular and innovative jazz musicians of all time In Pat Metheny The ECM Years 1975 1984 Mervyn Cooke offers the first in depth account of Metheny s early creative period during which he recorded eleven stunningly varied albums for the pioneering European record label ECM Edition of Contemporary Music This impressive body of recordings encompasses both straight ahead jazz playing with virtuosic small ensembles and the increasingly complex textures and structures of the Pat Metheny Group a hugely successful band also notable for its creative exploration of advanced music technologies which were state of the art at the time Metheny s music in all its shapes and forms broke major new ground in its refusal to subscribe to either of the stylistic poles of bebop and jazz rock fusion which prevailed in the late 1970s Through a series of detailed analyses based on a substantial body of new transcriptions from the recordings this study reveals the close interrelationship of improvisation and pre composition which lies at the very heart of the music Furthermore these analyses vividly demonstrate how Metheny s music is often conditioned by a strongly linear narrative model both its story telling characteristics and atmospheric suggestiveness have sometimes been compared to those of film music a genre in which the guitarist also became active during this early period The melodic memorability for which Metheny s compositions and improvisations have long been world renowned is shown to be just one important element in an unusually rich and flexible musical language that embraces influences as diverse as bebop free jazz rock pop country western Brazilian music classical music minimalism and the avant garde These elements are melded into a uniquely distinctive soundworld which above all directly reflects Metheny s passionate belief in the need to refashion jazz in ways which can allow it to speak powerfully to each new generation of youthful listeners
