The Strait of Magellan Michael A. Morris, 2023-12-11 The international straits of the world have generated intense demands and claims since the advent of seafaring and the early development of the Law of the Sea Demands of access and control over these intense spaces continues to implicate the power and wealth of nations and all oceans users The contemporary normative straits regime is a product of customary law and specialized and general conventions The regime regulates the rights and duties of coastal states and vessels over these potential chokepoints and owing to new demands it is under enhanced stress The post 9 11 security environment and the resurgence of piracy have elevated the defense demands of maritime powers and coastal States Non state actors including private armies have acquired an enhanced capability to limit access to straits Environmental concerns have created an added dimension of complexity to these narrow shipping lanes where coastal States increasingly demand additional regulatory measures such as mandatory pilotage and designation of PSSAs The emergence from the current global financial crisis depends upon global trade including petroleum shipping Most of that trade moves through the restricted ship operating areas of densely trafficked straits Thus the public order of the oceans depends upon international straits for navigation power and wealth At no point in history has the erosion or reinforcement of straits norms been more critical for the world community This is the key moment to re launch the series The International Straits of the World Books in the series will present 1 studies of individual geographic straits and 2 studies of straits grouped by shared functions and problems The re launched series will revise or rewrite certain previously published books that merit more contemporary appraisal and add new straits studies Catalogue of Birds of the Americas and the Adjacent Islands in Field Museum of Natural History Field Museum of Natural History, Carl Eduard Hellmayr, Boardman Conover, 1918 Zoological Series Field Museum of Natural History, 1925 The Patagonian Sublime Marcos Mendoza, 2018-10 Machine generated contents note Contents List of Acronyms List of Spanish Terms List of Images Acknowledgements Preface Introduction Part One The Sphere of Tourism Consumption 1 Alpine Style Mountaineering Resolve and Death in the Andes 2 Adventure Trekking Pursuing the Alpine Sublime Part Two The Sphere of Service Production 3 Comerciante Entrepreneurship Investment Hazard and Ethical Laboring 4 Golondrina Laboring Informality and Play Part Three The Sphere of the Conservation State 5 Community Based Conservation Land Managers and State Civil Society Collaborations 6 Conservation Policing Education and Environmental Impacts Part Four The Politics of the Green Economy 7 Defending Popular Sustainability in la Comuna 8 Kirchnerismo and the Politics of the Green Economy Conclusion Acknowledgments Notes Bibliography Index About the Author Landscaping Patagonia María de los Ángeles Picone, 2025-02-11 In late nineteenth century Latin America governments used new scientific technological and geographical knowledge not only to consolidate power and protect borders but also to define the physical contours of their respective nations Chilean and Argentine authorities in particular attempted to transform northern Patagonia a space they perceived as desert through a myriad of nationalizing policies from military campaigns to hotels But beyond the urban governing halls of Chile and Argentina explorers migrants local authorities bandits and visitors also made sense of the nation by inhabiting the physical space of the northern Patagonian Andes They surveyed passes opened roads claimed land titles or leases traveled miles to the nearest police station rode miles on horseback to escape the police and hiked the landscape Mar a de los ngeles Picone tells the story of how people living governing and traveling through northern Patagonia sought to construct versions of Chile and Argentina based on their ideas about and experiences in geographical space in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries By repositioning the analytical focus from Santiago and Buenos Aires to northern Patagonia Picone reveals how a wide array of actors with varying degrees of political economic and social power assigned distinctive and sometimes conflicting meanings to space and national identity
