Fodor,Fernanda Ferreira,1998-10-31 The topic addressed in this volume lies within the study of sentence processing which is one of the major divisions of psycholinguistics The goal has been to understand the structure and functioning of the mental mechanisms involved in sentence comprehension Most of the experimental and theoretical work during the last twenty or thirty years has focused on first pass parsing the process of assigning structure to a sentence as its words are encountered one at a time from left to right One important guiding idea has been to delineate the processing mechanisms by studying where they fail For this purpose we identify types of sentences which perceivers have trouble assigning structure to An important class of perceptually difficult sentences are those which contain temporary ambiguities Since the parsing mechanism cannot tell what the intended structure is it may make an incorrect guess Then later on in the sentence the structure assignment process breaks down because the later words do not fit with the incorrect structural analysis This is called a garden path situation When it occurs the parsing mechanism must somehow correct itself and find a different analysis which is compatible with the incoming words This reanalysis process is the subject of the research reported here Case and Linking in Language Comprehension Markus Bader,Josef Bayer,2006-05-09 The German language due to its verb final nature relatively free order of constituents and morphological Case system poses challenges for models of human syntactic processing which have mainly been developed on the basis of head initial languages with little or no morphological Case The verb final order means that the parser has to make predictions about the input before receiving the verb What are these predictions What happens when the predictions turn out to be wrong Furthermore the German morphological Case system contains ambiguities How are these ambiguities resolved under the normal time pressure in comprehension Based on theoretical as well as experimental work the present monograph develops a detailed account of the processing steps that underly language comprehension At its core is a model of linking noun phrases to arguments of the verb in the developing phrase structure and checking the result with respect to features such as person number and Case This volume contains detailed introductions to human syntactic processing as well as to German syntax which will be helpful especially for readers less familiar with psycholinguistics and with Germanic Garden Improvement Thomas Geoffrey Wall Henslow,1924 The Touchstone and the American Art Student Magazine ,1920 Garden & Home Builder William Tyler Miller,1927 Wind and Stone Masaaki Tachihara,1998-07-01 In detailing the affair between a garden designer and his client's wife this stylistic Japanese novel explores the roots of passion Mizue is a Japanese housewife Kase is a garden designer hired by her husband to landscape their home As the garden takes shape Mizue awakens to a new sensuality and desire A disturbing tale of seduction based on Japanese aesthetics and the artistic pursuit of destructive beauty Our Homes and Gardens ,1928
