Assaulted Personhood Craig C. Malbon, 2020-12-14 In 21st century America personhood is under daily assault sometimes with dire consequences Scientist ethicist and ordained minister Craig C Malbon encourages the reader to consider such assaults on personhood endured by victims of abortion ageism Alzheimer s disease drug addiction mental and physical disabilities gender gender orientation racism sexual preference identity politics and our will to power over the other In exploring personhood status Malbon poses difficult questions for us Is personhood assigned as all or nothing or is it a sliding scale based upon criteria arbitrarily aimed at our vulnerabilities Does the voiceless embryo and fetus have advocates who can speak to the moral question of abortion Is the personhood of an economically insecure pregnant woman degraded to the point where lack of access to early termination of pregnancy results in coercive childbearing Does being a member of the LGBTQI community target one for assaults on personhood to the extreme of being killed In delving into the biology and psychology of assaults of self upon the other Malbon sees powerful linkages of everyday assaults on personhood to darker profound original sins that are foundational to the rise of the American empire i e assaults on the indigenous Native Americans and assaults derivative to the institution of slavery upon Africans African Americans and their descendants

Small States and EU Governance Jean Micallef Grimaud, 2017-09-06 This book examines a crucial question about small states and their governments influence in the European Union EU decision making processes Are EU small member state governments influential in EU decision making processes In other words do they exercise influence in these processes And if so how and at which stage do they do this This book seeks to answer the above questions by focusing on Malta the smallest state in the EU and whether it exercises influence in uploading its preferences in two distinct stages of EU legislative decision making processes decision shaping formation and decision taking adoption The cases selected and analyzed showcase the Maltese government s behaviour in legislative negotiations in differing EU policy spheres that are extremely relevant to it These are the adoption of EU directives on pyrotechnic articles falling under the EU competition and consumer health and safety policy spheres and on the extension of EU long term residence to beneficiaries of international protection falling under EU immigration policy As analyzed in the latter chapters of the book Malta's government has achieved varying degrees of success in its exercise of influence in these EU decision making processes

Emissions performance standards Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Energy and Climate Change Committee, 2010-12-02 The Coalition Agreement contained a commitment to establish an emissions performance standard EPS that will prevent coal fired power stations unless sufficiently equipped with carbon capture and storage CCS It is felt that the existing policy framework including EU Emissions Trading System ETS the Renewables Obligation and the Carbon Capture and Storage demonstration programme are not sufficient to deliver the level of investment in new low carbon generating capacity needed to meet emissions reduction targets It is also felt that interactions and overlaps of an EPS with existing policies are not sufficiently understood and an independent review of regulations and market reforms in the electricity sector is called for Emissions Performance Standards are seen to offer a more certain and predictable way to prevent locking in to high carbon infrastructure and that is in itself adequate justification for its implementation There are though concerns that a poorly designed EPS could have a range of unintended consequences including uncertainty for investors prevention of adequate capacity to meet peak demand driving investment elsewhere in Europe and too great an impact on the electricity prices consumers have to pay

State Reconstitution in China, Japan and East Africa Graham F. Odell, 2020-07-20 Presented through an investigation of Sengoku Japan and Republican China this book proposes an innovative explanation of state formation that focuses on ideational and geographic factors This study addresses the question why are some collapsed states able to reconstitute themselves where others have not Graham F Odell employs two cases of successful state reconstitution Republican China 1912 1949 and Sengoku Japan 1477 1615 to derive a new theoretical framework around this question These cases are distinct across several significant factors making them ideal for a research design that seeks to formulate an original theoretical explanation for a phenomenon Taken together these two periods of Chinese and Japanese history are paradigmatic cases of state collapse and reconstitution and thus intrinsically compelling to the study of state formation By developing a new theory of successful state reconstitution through emphasizing the roles of ideology political symbolism and the geographical distribution of social power this text provides an answer to the question that has not only scholarly and practical implications but also a wide geographical applicability This book will be key reading for scholars interested in matters of international politics political science and state formation especially in East Asia
