Government Guarantees, and Fiscal Risk Mr. Barry Anderson, Murray Petrie, Mr. Max Alier, Mr. M. Cangiano, Mr. Richard Hemming, 2006-04-28 Public private partnerships PPPs refer to arrangements under which the private sector supplies infrastructure assets and infrastructure based services that traditionally have been provided by the government PPPs are used for a wide range of economic and social infrastructure projects but they are used mainly to build and operate roads bridges and tunnels light rail networks airports and air traffic control systems prisons water and sanitation plants hospitals schools and public buildings PPPs offer benefits similar to those offered by privatization which is the sale of government owned enterprises or assets By the late 1990s when privatization was losing much of its earlier momentum PPPs began to be widely seen as a means of obtaining private sector capital and management expertise for infrastructure investment After a modest start a wave of PPPs is now beginning to sweep the world This Special Issue paper provides an overview of some of the issues raised by PPPs with a particular focus on their fiscal consequences It also looks at government guarantees which are used fairly widely to shield the private sector from risk and are a common feature of PPPs And it examines the consequences of PPPs and guarantees for debt sustainability The paper concludes with a list of measures that can maximize the benefits and minimize the fiscal risks associated with the use of PPPs Various appendices augment the discussion by examining country experiences with PPPs summarizing the statistical reporting framework used to discuss fiscal accounting and reporting explaining accounting for risk transfer examining how guarantees are modeled and estimated in Chile and summarizing international accounting and reporting standards for contingent liabilities IBSS: Political Science: 2004 Vol.52 The British Library of Political and Economic Science, 2004-12 First published in 1952 the International Bibliography of the Social Sciences anthropology economics political science and sociology is well established as a major bibliographic reference for students researchers and librarians in the social sciences worldwide Key features Authority Rigorous standards are applied to make the IBSS the most authoritative selective bibliography ever produced Articles and books are selected on merit by some of the world's most expert librarians and academics Breadth Today the IBSS covers over 2000 journals more than any other comparable resource The latest monograph publications are also included International Coverage The IBSS reviews scholarship published in over thirty languages including publications from Eastern Europe and the developing world User friendly organization all non English titles are word sections Extensive author subject and place name indexes are provided in both English and French Úrsula Oswald Spring: Pioneer on Gender, Peace, Development, Environment, Food and Water Úrsula Oswald Spring, 2018-09-04 This book aims to initiate among students and other readers critical and interdisciplinary reflections on key problems concerning development gender relations peace and environment with a special emphasis on North South relations This volume offers a selection of the author's research in different parts of the world during 50 years of contributing to an interdisciplinary scientific debate and addressing social answers to urgent global problems After the author's biography and bibliography the second part analyses the development processes of several countries in the South that resulted in a dynamic of underdevelopment. The deep rooted gender discrimination is also reflected in the destructive exploitation of natural resources and the pollution of soils, water and air. Since the beginning of the Anthropocene in the mid 20th century the management of human society and global resources has been unsustainable and has created global environmental change and multiple conflicts over scarce and polluted resources. Peace and development policies aiming at gender equity and sustainable environmental management where water and food are crucial for the survival of humankind focus on systemic alternatives embedded in a path of sustainability transition. This book reviews multiple influences from Europe, Africa and Latin America on a leading social scientist and activist on gender development and environment aiming at a world with equity, sustainability, peace and harmony between nature and humans. This pioneer volume analyses social and environmental conflicts and peace processes in Latin America with a special focus on Mexico by addressing the development of under development, global environmental change, poverty, nutrition and the North-South gap. This volume focuses on environmental deterioration with a special emphasis on food and water and proposes systemic changes towards a sustainability transition with peace, regional development and gender equity. This pioneering work offers alternative approaches to regional development, food sovereignty and holistic development processes from a gender perspective.

Private Solutions for Infrastructure in Honduras

Public-Private Infrastructure Advisory Facility, 2003-01-01 This book is designed to promote the development of infrastructure services in Honduras with the aim of improving the country's competitiveness and contributing to poverty reduction. Its central argument is that Honduras needs a significant increase in private investment in infrastructure services which should take place in a more competitive environment and be subject to an adequate legal and regulatory framework. The study details the progress to date in Honduran infrastructure sectors, identifying the principal problems that exist and outlining a strategy for their solution. It proposes a general set of principles that should guide the provision of infrastructure services. In addition, it recommends specific policies for each sector. The document's scope includes the following services: transportation, water and sanitation, electricity and telecommunications.
