Ski Trails and Wildlife Eric Burr, 2008-05-08 Snow sports are usually the first step to learning about snow country wildlife which is only as safe as knowledgeable people want it to be Unfortunately knowledge is too often lacking and skiing is perceived as detrimental to wildlife Reality is that skiing in all its many forms from ski lift resorts to far flung Scandinavian style ski touring holds the keys to wildlife conservation and restoration No amount of litigation can change this basic fact of life although the Mineral King Case from the Supreme Court of the United States certainly changed the legal landscape for all environmental litigation Mineral King's near miss at becoming another ski lift avalanche disaster area preceded Early Winters another almost ski lift area which shares the honor of being a Supreme Court case and is the last chapter of this book Olympic National Park is the other ski history explored so that the National Parks are given equal emphasis with America's National Forests and Canada's Crown Lands An extensive bibliography also includes many electronically available sources The language is not technical and no prior experience with either skiing or wildlife is presumed The book is primarily written for both skiing and wildlife enthusiasts who may not know much about each other It is intended as a peace offering to hopefully prevent future ski wars and unnecessary trips through the legal system That effort could be better spent restoring wildlife and the life support system of our circumpolar boreal forest      Ecological Meltdown Asheem Srivastav, Suvira Srivastav, 2015-05-07 In the second edition of Ecological Meltdown impact of unchecked human growth on the earth's natural systems the authors discuss the destruction of biodiversity and ecosystems due to human actions Apart from warning about the impending ecological meltdown and analysing the causes behind it the book deals with the solutions that need to be urgently adopted by the global civil society and national governments The book is an invaluable resource for policymakers and institutions in the forestry wildlife energy rural development and environment sectors It will also prove beneficial for conservationists scientists researchers and students of environmental science A new chapter on Time for energy transition has been added in this edition      Guidelines for Protected Areas Legislation Barbara J. Lausche, 2011 The central aim of this publication is to consider the key elements of a modern comprehensive and effective legal framework for successful management of protected areas They provide practical guidance for all those involved in developing improving or reviewing national legislation on protected areas be they legal drafters and practitioners protected area managers interested NGOs or scholars These guidelines include fifteen case studies eight dealing with the protected area legislation of individual countries and six cases dealing with specific sites providing fundamental solutions that stand the test of time      Plant Invasions in Protected Areas Llewellyn C. Foxcroft, Petr Pyšek, David M. Richardson, Piero Genovesi, 2013-11-27 This book is the first comprehensive global review of all aspects of alien plant invasions in protected areas It provides insights into advances in invasion ecology emanating from work in protected areas and the link to locally relevant management support for protected areas The book provides in depth case studies illuminating interesting and insightful knowledge that can be shared across the global protected area network The book includes the collective understanding of 80 ecologists and managers to extract as much information as possible that will support the long term management of protected areas and the biodiversity and associated ecosystem services they maintain This outstanding volume draws together pretty much all that can be said on this topic ranging from the science through policy to practical action Dr Simon N Stuart IUCN Species Survival Commission UK This important and timely volume addresses two of the most serious problems affecting biodiversity conservation today assessing the extent to which protected areas are impacted by biological invasions and the complex problems of managing these impacts Written by leading specialists it provides a comprehensive overview of the issues and gives detailed examples drawn from protected areas across the world Professor Vernon H Heywood School of Biological Sciences University of Reading UK      Food Production and Nature Conservation Iain J. Gordon, Herbert H.T. Prins, Geoff R. Squire, 2016-11-25 Feeding the world's growing human population is increasingly challenging especially as more people adopt a western diet and lifestyle Doing so without causing damage to nature poses an even greater challenge This book argues that in order to create a sustainable food supply whilst conserving nature agriculture and nature must be reconnected and approached together The authors demonstrate that while the links between nature and food production have to some extent already been recognized until now the focus has been to protect one from the impacts of the other. Instead, it is argued that nature and agriculture can and should work together and ultimately benefit from one another. Chapters describe efforts to protect nature through globally connected protected area systems and illustrate how farming methods are being shaped to protect nature within agricultural systems. The authors also point to many ways in which nature benefits agriculture through the ecosystem services it provides. Overall, the book shows that nature conservation and food production must be considered as equally important components of future solutions to meet the global demand for food in a manner that is sustainable for both the human population and the planet as a whole.

Natural Area Tourism David Newsome, Susan A. Moore, Ross Kingston Dowling, 2012-12-01. Natural Area Tourism provides an authoritative and comprehensive account of tourism in natural wild and protected areas. The second edition contains an overview of key literature and new developments that have emerged since the publication of the first edition more than a decade ago. Accordingly, this book will remain an invaluable resource and review of the subject for many years to come.

Ecosystem-Based Disaster Risk Reduction and Adaptation in Practice Fabrice G. Renaud, Karen Sudmeier-Rieux, Marisol Estrella, Udo Nehren, 2016-08-19. This book is a compilation of recent developments in the field of ecosystem-based disaster risk reduction and climate change adaptation. Eco DRR CCA globally. It provides further evidence that ecosystem-based approaches make economic sense and showcases how research has progressively filled knowledge gaps about translating this concept into practice. It presents a number of methods and tools that illustrate how Eco DRR CCA has been applied for various ecosystems and hazard contexts around the world. It also discusses how innovative institutional arrangements and policies are shaping the field of Eco DRR CCA. The book is of relevance to scientists, practitioners, policy makers, and students in the field of ecosystem management for disaster risk reduction and climate change adaptation.

Climate Change and Tourism World Tourism Organization, United Nations Environment Programme, 2008. This publication contains the key proceedings and technical report of the Second International Conference on Climate Change and Tourism held in Davos, Switzerland, 1-3 October 2007. The Davos Declaration and the summary of the conference debates demonstrate a clear commitment of the tourism sector to address climate change issues and provide concrete recommendations for actions. The extensive technical report included in this publication was commissioned to an international team of experts by the World Tourism Organization (UNWTO), the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), and the World Meteorological Organization (WMO). It provides a synthesis of the state of knowledge about current and future likely impacts of climate change on tourism destinations around the world, possible implications for tourist demand, current levels and trends in GHG emissions from the tourism sector, and an overview of policy and management responses adopted by the key stakeholder groups: international organizations, public administrations, the tourism industry, with respect to adaptation to and mitigation of climate change. This publication is principally aimed at the tourism industry and government organizations at the different levels who will have the primary responsibility of developing mitigation and adaptation strategies to respond to the challenges that global climate change will bring to the tourism sector. It also constitutes an important tool for international agencies, nongovernmental organizations, NGOs, and financial institutions. Biodiversity and Climate Change Council of Europe, 2010. The effects of climate change on ecosystems are complex. The impact on the species and habitats protected by the Bern Convention may differ widely depending on the species, their habitats, and location. This publication includes seven expert reports presenting concrete measures for addressing the vulnerability of Europe's natural heritage in the face of climate change and its effects and how this heritage must adapt in order to survive. With this publication, the Council of Europe aims to increase awareness about the links between biodiversity and climate and emphasise the large potential for synergies when addressing biodiversity loss and climate change in an integrated manner. Biodiversity Monitoring in Australia David Lindenmayer, Philip Gibbons, 2012. Ecological and biodiversity-based monitoring has been marked by an appalling lack of effectiveness and lack of success in Australia for more than 40 years despite the billions of dollars that are invested in biodiversity conservation annually. What can be done to rectify this situation? This book tackles many aspects of the problem of biodiversity monitoring. It arose from a major workshop held at The Australian National University in February 2011, attended by leaders in the science, policy, making, and management arenas of biodiversity conservation. Chapter contributors examine what has led to successful monitoring, the key problems with biodiversity monitoring, and practical solutions to those problems. By capturing critical insights into successes, failures, and solutions, the authors provide high-level guidance for important initiatives such as the National Biodiversity Strategy. Ultimately, the authors hope to considerably improve the quality and effectiveness of biodiversity monitoring in Australia and to arrest the decline of biodiversity. KEY FEATURES Engaging style. Practical information that is based on very high quality scientific information. Mangroves for Building Resilience to Climate Change R.N. Mandal, R. Bar, 2018-12-07. This valuable book is a comprehensive volume on mangroves with information accessible to both botany professionals and students. It provides an easy method of identifying mangroves and distinguishing one species from another. What is a mangrove and what are the criteria of mangroves are explained along with descriptions of distinctions among major mangroves, mangrove associates, mangrove halophytes, and back mangals. Many photos and illustrations are provided showing the visible features of mangroves. The volume also covers a range of other topics including habitats and climatic conditions, morphological and reproductive features, how climate change is affecting mangroves, and methods of mitigation and conservation. This book is about mangroves, the intertidal coastal forests that struggle every moment against hungry tides because mangroves flourish at the interface zone of land and sea. Like an evergreen forest in the tropical and subtropical regions of the world, mangroves form definite coastal vegetation providing protection to people living in such fragile zones against the occurrence of frequent natural calamities. Key features Introduces important facts about mangroves, definition, early records of mangroves, categorization, and more. Looks at the distribution of mangroves.

worldwide along with features of mangrove habitats and climatic conditions Describes the ecology and environmental conditions particularly the concept of intertidal zones along estuary positions where tidal flows inundate mangroves Discusses the distinct morphological attributes and reproductive phenology of major mangroves Details the attributes of mangroves covering a total of 78 species of intertidal flora including 32 true mangroves along with their diagnostic features salient attributes and illustrations for easy identification Highlights the burning environmental issue of climate change and its impact on mangroves Provides a variety of methods of restoration conservation and protection of mangroves

Parks and Protected Areas in Canada Philip Dearden,Rick Rollins,2009 Bringing together a list of outstanding scholars and officials from the academic world Canada s public service and non governmental organizations Parks and Protected Areas in Canada gives students a comprehensive look at Canadian park management and planning This text s carefully constructed framework dividing content by theoretical approaches and their applications case studies and themes such as the role of Aboriginal peoples in policy development crafts an in depth view of the contemporary issues relating to parks and protected space management in Canada today

Biodiversity Conservation in Southeast Asia Serge Morand,Claire Lajaunie,Rojchai Satrawaha,2017-07-28 Southeast Asia is highly diversified in terms of socio ecosystems and biodiversity but is undergoing dramatic environmental and social changes These changes characterize the recent period and can be illustrated by the effects of the Green Revolution in the late 1960s and 1970s to the globalization of trade and increasing agronomic intensification over the past decade Biodiversity Conservation in Southeast Asia provides theoretical overviews and challenges for applied research in living resource management conservation ecology health ecology and conservation planning in Southeast Asia Five key themes are addressed origin and evolution of Southeast Asian biodiversity challenges in conservation biology ecosystem services and biodiversity managing biodiversity and living resources policy economics and governance of biodiversity Detailed case studies are included from Thailand and the Lower Mekong Basin while other chapters address cross cutting themes applicable to the whole Southeast Asia region This is a valuable resource for academics and students in the areas of ecology conservation environmental policy and management Southeast Asian studies and sustainable development
