

Seeing Is Believing (?) Blurred Boundaries and Loving Looks in Nancy Burson's Art<sup>1</sup>

Anna Kérchy

Nancy Burson is a contemporary American digital artist, photographer, born in 1948. Her work is shown in museums and galleries internationally including major exhibitions at The International Center of Photography and the New Museum in New York City, The Venice Biennale, The Contemporary Arts Museum in Houston, and The Museum of Contemporary Photography in Chicago. She has served as a visiting professor at Harvard and was a member of the adjunct photography faculty at New York University's Tisch School of the Arts. "Seeing and Believing" was the title of her traveling 2002 retrospective originating at the Grey Art Gallery, and nominated for Best Solo Museum Show of the Year in New York City by the International Association of Art Critics.

Frames: Social Criticism, Theoretical Relevance

The title of the retrospective exhibition is extremely telling of Burson's art, since Burson has been preoccupied since the beginnings of her career with issues of culturally conditioned representation, perception, and interpretation. Her aim has been to unveil communal myths by showing how socially sanctioned misrepresentations (particularly of body, self and humanity)—necessarily fostering mis(self)identifications and misinterpretations—privilege and manipulate "seeing" as a token of "believing" and as a guarantee of "reality"/"authenticity." In the title of my study I slightly modified the exhibition's title from "Seeing and Believing" to "Seeing Is Believing(?)" in order to make the artistic project even more explicit, since I believe that Burson's photography always provides a thorough criticism of the ideologically invested nature of spectatorship and to-be-looked-at-ness, of visibility and invisibility, and calls attention to the unequal, hegemonic (gendered, raced, classed) distribution of empowered spectatorial, and of contained, controlled spectacularized spectacle-positions which become naturalized and normativized through the Foucauldian ideological technologies of truth-production.

Burson presents strange portraits of "naturally unnatural" pathological, deformed faces or of computer manipulated, metamorphic faces gained with the help of the digital morphing technology invented by her in order to transgress frames, to challenge aesthetic norms and normativized body-images, to unsettle ideologically ready-made truths, and revision our conventional "ways of seeing." Her morphed and metamorphosing photos destabilize her very mode of artistic expression, by mockingly troubling the "Seeing=Believing" equation apparently reinforced by the nineteenth century invention of photography.

On the one hand, her photos disclose our contemporary western consumer so-

The Concise Focal Encyclopedia of Photography Michael Peres, 2014-06-20 Defining photography is impossible. Revealing it is another matter and that's what The Concise Focal Encyclopedia of Photography does with each turn of the page. History: The technical origins and evolution of photography are half of the story. The other half consists of the ways that cultural forces have transformed photography into a constellation of practices more diverse than any other mode of representation. Photographers can tell a more in-depth story through a photo like Dorothea Lange's Migrant Mother than a journalist ever could with the written word alone. Major themes and practitioners: Over 25 entries, many with supporting illustrations, examine the figures, trends, and ideas that have contributed most heavily to the history and current state of photography. Contemporary issues: The issues influencing photography today are more complex than at any other time in its history. Questions of ethics, desire, perception, digitization, and commercialization all vie for attention. Hear what the experts have to say about crucial issues such as whether or not the images we take today will last the test of time and if so, how. When material is covered, this skillfully concise volume is no compromise. The Concise Focal Encyclopedia of Photography is packed with useful information, compelling ideas, and best of all, pure pleasure.

The Focal Encyclopedia of Photography Michael R. Peres, 2013-05-29 This volume is a complete revision of the 1996 third edition, shares the ever-changing breadth of photographic topics with a special emphasis on digital imaging and contemporary issues. Produced by an international team of photographic and imaging experts with collaboration from the George Eastman House, the world's oldest photography museum, this fourth edition contains essays and photographic reproductions sharing information where photography and imaging serve a primary role, ranging from the atomic to the cosmic.

Deus in Machina: Religion, Technology, and the Things in Between Jeremy Stolow, 2013 This interdisciplinary volume explores how two domains of human experience and action, religion and technology, are implicated in one another. Combining rich historical and ethnographic detail with extended theoretical reflection, Deus in Machina challenges longstanding assumptions about religion and as technology and outlines new directions of inquiry at the crossroads of religious studies, science and technology studies, communication studies, history, anthropology, and philosophy.

Eleven Conclusions Betsy Huete, 2014-03-19 This book takes found language from archived exhibition catalogues from the Blaffer Art Museum, the art museum of the University of Houston. The language has been chopped up and reconfigured into prose poems and disjunctive critical analyses and is intended to mimic an exhibition catalogue written thesis in itself, albeit through abstracted language. This is a thesis project for artist and writer Betsy Huete.
