The Cambridge Companion to the Twentieth-Century English Novel Robert L. Caserio, 2009-04-30 The twentieth century English novel encompasses a vast body of work and one of the most important and most widely read genres of literature Balancing close readings of particular novels with a comprehensive survey of the last century of published fiction this Companion introduces readers to more than a hundred major and minor novelists It demonstrates continuities in novel writing that bridge the century s pre and post War halves and presents leading critical ideas about English fiction s themes and forms The essays examine the endurance of modernist style throughout the century the role of nationality and the contested role of the English language in all its forms and the relationships between realism and other fictional modes fantasy romance science fiction Students scholars and readers will find this Companion an indispensable guide to the history of the English novel

Black Odysseys Justine McConnell, 2013-06-20 This book explores works from Africa and the African diaspora which respond to the Homeric Odyssey As a founding text of the Western canon and as a homecoming trope and quest for identity the Odyssey has inspired writers who are simultaneously striving against and appropriating the very forms which had been used to oppress them

Time, History, and Philosophy in the Works of Wilson Harris Gianluca Delfino, 2012-11-01 Gianluca Delfino s study is based on the assumption that Wilson Harris works as a whole show a remarkable unity of thought rooted in their author s complex imagination As a valuable contribution to Caribbean Literature and Philosophy Harris imaginative approach to reality is discussed in relation to the categories of history and time with reference to several novels from Palace of The Peacock to The Mask of the Beggar with a special focus on The Infinite Rehearsal Jonestown and The Dark Jester spanning more than forty years of his vast literary production encompassing critical perspectives ranging from African philosophy to Jungian readings through historiography and anthropology As a result the cross cultural quality of Harris thought emerges as a healing outcome of the traumatic colonial encounter bringing together elements of Amerindian African and European origin in an ongoing dialogue with time nature and the psyche The outcome of an extensive research into Harris world Delfino s study stands in the tradition of the late Hena Maes Jelinek s critical enterprise by expanding philosophical and psychological readings with the addition of anthropological perspectives that appeal to those who were captured by Harris intricacy and rescued by Maes Jelinek s illuminating interpretations The attempt to reconstruct a unifying frame around Harris body of work suggests a new way of looking at one of the Caribbean s most controversial authors

Memories of the Classical Underworld in Irish and Caribbean Literature Madeleine Scherer,2021-09-20 Classical

Memories is an intervention into the field of adaptation studies taking the example of classical reception to show that adaptation is a process that can be driven by and produce intertextual memories I see classical memories as a memory driven type of adaptation that draws on and reproduces schematic and otherwise de contextualised conceptions of antiquity and its cultural exports in broadly speaking the twentieth and twenty first centuries These memory driven adaptations differ often in significant ways from more traditional adaptations that seek to either continue or deconstruct a long running tradition that can be traced back to antiquity as well as its canonical points of reception in later ages When investigating such a popular and widespread set of narratives characters and images like those that remain of Graeco Roman antiquity terms like adaptation and reception could and should be nuanced further to allow us to understand the complex interactions between modern works and classical antiquity in more detail particularly when it pertains to postcolonial or post digital classical reception In Classical Memories I propose that understanding certain types of adaptations as intertextual memories allows us to do just that

Communities in Contemporary Anglophone Caribbean Short Stories Lucy Evans, 2014 This book explores representations of community in Anglophone Caribbean short story collections and cycles of the late twentieth and early twenty first century

Conversations in Philosophy F. Ochieng'-Odhiambo, 2009-10-02 Conversations in Philosophy Crossing the Boundaries consists of essays that revolve around the question of the nature and meaning of philosophy even as it demonstrates philosophy's significance and relevance to some fundamental human problems and issues The essays present diverse views of what philosophy might be and might aspire to be with contributors being influenced by a wide range of philosophical approaches and traditions The conversations also cut across disciplinary boundaries to interrogate and utilize ideas taken from ethics epistemology metaphysics literary studies cultural studies and the sociology of science Traversing regional boundaries the essays show philosophical analysis at work in exploring some issues pertinent to African Caribbean European and American experiences even while not ignoring Asian traditions The collection presents interesting and intriguing views on how philosophical inquiry can illuminate various pressing problems development conflict the discriminating preservation of worthwhile traditions and the prevalence of apathy It also reflects the vitality and multifaceted nature of philosophical discourse in grappling with live issues Conversations in Philosophy is a comprehensive balanced and unique anthology of readings capturing the diversity of philosophical investigation

Caribbean Without Borders Raquel Puig, Dorsía Smith, 2008-12-18 Caribbean Studies is an emerging field As such many topics within this discipline have yet to be explored and developed This collection of essays is one of the forerunners dedicated to a comprehensive study of the literature language and culture of the Caribbean By exploring the works of such prominent literary scholars as Samuel Selvon and Lorna Goodison as well as the myriad of issues pertaining to the Caribbean experience this volume provides an engaging overview of literary language and cultural analysis Because of this wide range of essays this text meets a need to examine the Caribbean in its complexity which is rarely addressed

Assembling Alternatives Romana Huk, 2003-04-29 First

anthology to examine the national borders of postmodern poetry Perspectives on the 'Other America' ,2009-01-01 Uniting critical writing on novels poetry painting and ritual this volume takes a regional approach to the cultures of the Caribbean Basin Ranging across the linguistic spectrum of the area it examines cultural production from the Anglophone Francophone and Hispanophone islands Suriname and the Guyanas and Latin and Central America The interdisciplinary nature of the collection and the challenge it poses to the balkanization of the region within academic discourse will make it of especial interest to students and scholars of the Caribbean Inspired by the category of the Other America as developed by douard Glissant the book offers a series of original and stimulating engagements with topics that include nationalism migration and exile landscape and the environment gender and sexuality and Postcolonial Studies and world literature In addition to contributions by leading scholars such as Peter Hulme Theo D haen and Lizabeth Paravisini Gebert it contains interviews with two renowned novelists from the region Lawrence Scott and Mayra Santos Febres Underpinning the collection is an interrogation of received ideas of the nation state and a suggestion that regionalism might provide a better optic through which to view the circum Caribbean that national consciousness in other words must always also be a regional consciousness Postcolonial Literatures of Climate Change ,2022-07-04 Postcolonial Literatures of Climate Change investigates the evolving nature of postcolonial literary criticism in response to global regional and local environmental transformations brought about by climate change It builds upon and extends previous studies in postcolonial ecocriticism to demonstrate how the growing awareness of human caused global warming has begun to permeate literary consciousness praxis and analysis The breadth of the volume s coverage the diversity of its focal locations cultures genres and texts serves as a salient reminder that while climate change is global its impacts vary effecting peoples from place to place unequally and often in accordance with their particular historical experience of colonialism and neo colonialism as well as their ongoing marginalisations Demonstrating the urgency of invoking novel epistemological approaches combining the scientific and the imaginative this book is a must read for those concerned about the present and potential impacts of climate change on formerly colonised areas of the world The comprehensive and illuminating Introduction offers a crucial history and current state of postcolonial ecocriticism as it has been and is addressing climate crises Helen Tiffin University of Wollongong The broad focus on the polar regions the Pacific and the Caribbean with added essays on environmental justice activism in India and Egypt opens up rich terrain for examination under the rubric of postcolonial and ecocritical analysis not only expanding recent studies in this field but also enabling new comparisons and conceptual linkages Helen Gilbert Royal Holloway University of London The subject is topical and vital and will become even more so as the problem of how to reconcile the demands of climate change with the effects on regions and individual nations already damaged by the economic effects of colonisation and the subsequent inequalities resulting from neo colonialism continues to grow Gareth Griffiths Em Prof University of Western Australia Literature and Culture in the Black Atlantic K. Campbell,2016-04-30 This book extends our understanding of the black Atlantic a term coined by Paul Gilroy to describe the political cultural and creative interrelations among blacks living in Africa the Americas and Europe This study focuses on pre colonial English literary constructions and their effects on post Independence Caribbean literature

Black Nationalism in the New World Robert Carr,2002-10-18 Provides new insight into the development of black nationalism by examining the intersection of African American and West Indian nationalist literatures

Caliban's Voice Bill Ashcroft,2009-01-21 In Shakespeare's Tempest Caliban says to Miranda and Prospero you taught me language and my profit on't Is I know how to curse With this statement he gives voice to an issue that lies at the centre of post colonial studies Can Caliban own Prospero's language Can he use it to do more than curse Caliban's Voice examines the ways in which post colonial literatures have transformed English to redefine what we understand to be English Literature It investigates the importance of language learning in the imperial mission the function of language in ideas of race and place the link between language and identity the move from orature to literature and the significance of translation By demonstrating the dialogue that occurs between writers and readers in literature Bill Ashcroft argues that cultural identity is not locked up in language but that language even a dominant colonial language can be transformed to convey the realities of many different cultures Using the figure of Caliban Ashcroft weaves a consistent and resonant thread through his discussion of the post colonial experience of life in the English language and the power of its transformation into new and creative forms

Companion to Contemporary Black British Culture Alison Donnell,2002-09-11 The Companion to Contemporary Black British Culture is the first comprehensive reference book to provide multidisciplinary coverage of the field of black cultural production in Britain The publication is of particular value because despite attracting growing academic interest in recent years this field is still often subject to critical and institutional neglect For the purpose of the Companion the term black is used to signify African Caribbean and South Asian ethnicities while at the same time addressing the debates concerning notions of black Britishness and cultural identity This single volume Companion covers seven intersecting areas of black British cultural production since 1970 writing music visual and plastic arts performance works film and cinema fashion and design and intellectual life With entries on distinguished practitioners key intellectuals seminal organizations and concepts as well as popular cultural forms and local activities the Companion is packed with information and suggestions for further reading as well as offering a wide lens on the events and issues that have shaped the cultural interactions and productions of black Britain over the last thirty years With a range of specialist advisors and contributors this work promises to be an invaluable sourcebook for students researchers and academics interested in exploring the diverse complex and exciting field of black cultural forms in postcolonial Britain

Memory and Myth Fiona Darroch,2009 This book investigates the problematical historical location of the term religion and examines how this location has affected the analytical reading of postcolonial fiction and poetry The adoption of the term religion outside of a Western Enlightenment and Christian context should therefore be treated with caution Within postcolonial literary criticism there has been either a silencing of the category as a result of this caution or an uncritical and essentializing adoption of the term religion. It is argued in the present study that a vital aspect of how writers articulate their histories of colonial contact, migration, slavery and the re-forging of identities in the wake of these histories is illuminated by the classificatory term religion. Aspects of postcolonial theory and Religious Studies theory are combined to provide fresh insights into the literature, thereby expanding the field of postcolonial literary criticism. The way in which writers remember history through writing is central to the way in which religion is theorized and articulated; the act of remembrance can be persuasively interpreted in terms of religion. The title Memory and Myth therefore refers to both the syncretic mythology of Guyana and the key themes in a new critical understanding of religion. Particular attention is devoted to Wilson Harris's novel Jonestown alongside theoretical and historical material on the actual Jonestown tragedy, to the mesmerizing effect of the Anancy tales on contemporary writers, particularly the poet John Agard, and to the work of the Indo-Guyanese writer David Dabydeen and his elusive character Manu.
