Representations from the imaginations Too far for you to see Governing the Environment in the Early Modern World Sara Miglietti, John Morgan, 2017-03-27 Throughout the early modern period scientific debate and governmental action became increasingly preoccupied with the environment generating discussion across Europe and the wider world as to how to improve land and climate for human benefit This discourse eventually promoted the reconsideration of long held beliefs about the role of climate in upholding the social order driving economies and affecting public health Governing the Environment in the Early Modern World explores the relationship between cultural perceptions of the environment and practical attempts at environmental regulation and change between 1500 and 1800 Taking a cultural and intellectual approach to early modern environmental governance this edited collection combines an interpretative perspective with new insights into a period largely unfamiliar to environmental historians Using a rich and multifaceted narrative this book offers an understanding as to how efforts to enhance productive aspects of the environment were both led by and contributed to new conceptualisations of the role of nature in human society This book offers a cultural and intellectual approach to early modern environmental history and will be of special interest to environmental cultural and intellectual historians as well as anyone with an interest in the culture and politics of environmental governance What is Environmental History? England's Northern Frontier Jackson W. Armstrong, 2020-11-12 The three counties of England's northern borderlands have long had a reputation as an exceptional and peripheral region within the medieval kingdom preoccupied with local turbulence as a result of the proximity of a hostile frontier with Scotland Yet in the fifteenth century open war was an infrequent occurrence in a region which is much better understood by historians of fourteenth century Anglo Scottish conflict or of Tudor responses to the so called border reivers This first book length study of England s far north in the fifteenth century addresses conflict kinship lordship law justice and governance in this dynamic region It traces the norms and behaviours by which local society sought to manage conflict arguing that common law and march law were only parts of a mixed framework which included aspects of feud as it is understood in a wider European context Addressing the counties of Northumberland Cumberland and Westmorland together Jackson W Armstrong transcends an east west division in the region s historiography and challenges the prevailing understanding of conflict in late medieval England setting the region within a wider comparative framework
