network is not yet optimally set up and lacks coherence and connectivity The author examines the Habitats Directive s provisions regarding the designation of Natura 2000 and discusses possible reasons for the EU Member States ongoing lack of compliance with their designation duties She reassesses the 2015 REFIT Fitness Check of the Nature Directives to look for the Member States reasons for not having optimally complied with their designation duties yet She then analyses the Habitats Directive to reveal elements of non optimal drafting in its designation provisions Sensible law reforms that do not interfere with the general framework of the Habitats Directive and which keep in mind the relevant national regional and international biodiversity law and policy as well as the relevant case law will be discussed to this end As a result this book presents an enhanced legal designation framework that can support Member States compliance with their designation obligations The book finally goes beyond the European biodiversity legislation also shedding light on the effects of the suggested reforms for the broader biodiversity and environmental law and policy landscape and concludes that reforming the Habitats Directive would benefit a variety of contemporary areas of law This book targets academics and policy makers in the field as it provides a scholarly as well as a hands on approach to the subject of strengthening European biodiversity law
