should be built along similar lines Fisher's basic concept of capital is simple and comprehensive Capital embraces all stocks of material objects that yield services that human beings like Thus Fisher would include land and other natural resources as well as reproducible goods objects owned by households and governments as well as by businesses houses and other consumer durable goods as well as producers durables objects whose yields are always in kind like houses occupied by their owners as well as those whose yields are marketed for cash the bodies of human beings perhaps their minds too as well as nonhuman objects Contemporaries schooled in the classical trilogy of land labor capital found Fisher's comprehensive view hard to take The Concept of Income Fisher's nature of capital was controversial at the time but it is much less so now His nature of income defined as consumption was even more controversial then and it remains controversial to this day The Rate of Interest published the following year deserves Samuelson's judgment as the greater of the two books Most important is the idea that the value of an asset is the capitalization of the stream of future services expected to be thrown off by the asset James Tobin 1918 2002 recipient of the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economics in 1981 The book includes additional content A commentary adapted by James Tobin 1991 a review by Thorstein Veblen 1908 and another review by Edwin Bidwell Wilson 1908 of MIT
