Nature Reserves Island Theory And Conservation Practice:

NATURE RESERVES SHAFER CRAIG L,1990 Assesses the current status of nature reserves the information available from field surveys and the results of conservation trials and explores theories and controversies in legal social and economic realms Shafer an ecologist with the National Park Service draws on ecology biogeography evolutionary biology genetics and paleobiology for his fairly technical analysis Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Nature Reserves Craig L. Shafer,1990 Nature Reserves C.L. Shafer,1984 The Terrestrial Biosphere S.T. Trudgill,2014-09-25 Terrestrial Biosphere tries to pose the questions which underlie the many sided debate of how to respond to and influence change How should we view nature What do we do for the best how should we act what are we trying to achieve and what should we be guided by In doing so the book introduces and attempts to analyse not only scientific aspects of the debate but also cultural attitudes and values the notions of ecosystem stability are now challenged and it is also clear that ecosystems are renewable but not repeatable It finds that prescriptive solutions based on current constructs may not be adequate Feeling that analysis should lead to advocacy the author believes that if we can't improve predictability we have to increase adaptability which means that ecological and social capacity building should be advocated This is seen in terms of concepts institutions attitudes and values which allow for a plurality of meanings and which can cope with surprise and unforeseen change and which also facilitates responses to change Creative Conservation P.J. Olney,G. Mace,A. Feistner,1993-12-31 Past progress and future challenges R J Wheater Royal Zoological Society of Scotland Edinburgh UK In the past two decades much has been achieved in the sphere of breeding endangered species and we should be pleased that our co operative efforts have already borne so much fruit However on balance and despite the best efforts of conservationists the position of wildlife in the wild places where they are best conserved has become worse often dramatically worse Before returning to the United Kingdom in 1972 I was in Uganda for 16 years most of which time was spent as Chief Warden of Murchison Falls National Park Our main problem was that an over population of large mammals was having a devastating impact on the habitat Devastation was being wrought on woodland areas by the arrival of large numbers of elephants into the sanctuary of the Park following changes in land use in the areas outside the Park These changes were in response to the requirements of an ever expanding human population Changing Parks John S. Marsh,Bruce W. Hodgins,1998-05-15 This important book is a must for everyone concerned with the heritage and future of Canada's parks Contributors include an impressive assembly of noted park experts ranging from academic authorities and government parks personnel to concerned nonpolitical park supporters Since the establishment of Banff National Park in 1885 and Algonquin Provincial Park in 1893 parklands have been part of Canada's heritage Where other protected areas such as forest reserves heritage rivers and greenways have also been created a more comprehensive view of the creation and management of conservation areas and marshland is discussed Cooperative approaches to park management recognize the regional context of parks with respect to local communities as well as the inclusion of more diverse groups of people particularly Aboriginals This work encourages the general public to take an interest in our priceless park heritage Ecotourism Programme Planning David A. Fennell, 2002-01-01 Tourism is the world's largest industry In the past decade it is the natural resource based sector that has experienced the greatest growth In particular adventure cultural and ecotourism ACE tourism for example skiing white water rafting whale watching festivals and fairs This book provides an in depth overview of the different operations of ACE tourism It draws on theory from recreation and leisure studies tourism marketing and environmental management to demonstrate the importance of effective program planning This is especially significant as industry competition becomes more intense in this growth sector
