Dedham Historical Register ,1897 Housework and Gender in American Television Kristi Rowan Humphreys,2015-10-29 Housework and Gender in American Television Coming Clean examines representations of housework and their relationships with gender in sixty of the most popular television shows of the 1950s through the 1980s searching for trends similarities inconsistencies and meaning Much of the critical scholarship addressing mid century televised housework claims that domestic activities marginalize female characters removing them from scenes involving important familial discussions and placing them in devalued positions This book challenges the notion that housework functions primarily as a mechanism through which female characters are marginalized devalued invisible or passive and instead proposes a different reading of housework in television one that brings to the fore the loving sacrificial and active qualities so crucial and foundational to housework activity in both representation and reality These qualities in turn attach a strength to female characters and male characters when applicable that is often ignored in standard feminist analyses of television This study reveals roughly twenty trends established in four decades of televised housework from the housewives of the fifties to the witches and genies of the sixties to the elimination of male domestic labor in the seventies to the dominance of male housekeepers in the eighties
