Doubting Vision Malcolm Turvey, 2008-07-31 The film theories of Jean Epstein Dziga Vertov Bela Balazs and Siegfried Kracauer have long been studied separately from each other In Doubting Vision film scholar Malcolm Turvey argues that their work constitutes a distinct hitherto neglected tradition which he calls revelationism and which differs in important ways from modernism and realism For these four theorists and filmmakers the cinema is an art of mass enlightenment because it escapes the limits of human sight and reveals the true nature of reality Turvey provides a detailed exegesis of this tradition pointing to its sources in Romanticism the philosophy of Henri Bergson modern science and other intellectual currents He also shows how profoundly it has influenced contemporary film theory by examining the work of psychoanalytical semiotic theorists of the 1970s Stanley Cavell the modern day followers of Kracauer and Walter Benjamin and Gilles Deleuze Throughout Turvey offers a trenchant critique of revelationism and its descendants Combining the close analysis of theoretical texts with the philosophical method of conceptual clarification pioneered by the later Wittgenstein he shows how the arguments theorists and filmmakers have made about human vision and the cinema s revelatory powers often traffic in conceptual confusion Having identified and extricated these confusions Turvey builds on the work of Epstein Vertov Balazs and Kracauer as well as contemporary philosophers of film to clarify some legitimate senses in which the cinema is a revelatory art using examples from the films of filmmakers such as Alfred Hitchcock and Jacques Tati
