

Lesson 57: Pascal's Principle (AP Only)

Imagine that you have a container of fluid.

- From what we've learned so far, we know that the pressure the fluid exerts on the sides of the container is the same everywhere.
  - If they were not, the fluid would no longer be static.
- Now we exert a force somewhere on the outside of the container. What can we expect will happen to the pressure inside the container?
  - Well, for starters, it makes sense to say that the pressure will increase.
  - The important part is that, according to Pascal's Principle, the pressure will increase everywhere in the fluid, not just where you are applying the force.

Application of Pascal's Principle

Probably the most easily understood example of Pascal's principle at work is when a hydraulic lift (like in a mechanics garage) lifts up a large mass.

- On one side we have a small cylinder (filled with an incompressible liquid) with a piston. This is where we will exert a force downwards.

$$\Delta P = \frac{F_1}{A_1}$$

- This is connected by a pipe to another, larger cylinder, with a large piston, where the large mass will be lifted by a force upwards.

$$\Delta P = \frac{F_2}{A_2}$$

We don't care what the original pressure was in the cylinder, only that the force we are exerting now causes a change in pressure.

According to Pascal's principle, the change on both sides must be the same.

- If  $\Delta P$  is the same, then we can combine the two formulas from above into one equation...

Illustration 1: A hydraulic lift works according to Pascal's principle.

$$\Delta P = \Delta P$$

$$\frac{F_1}{A_1} = \frac{F_2}{A_2}$$
