Passionate Observer Writings From The World Of Nature:

The Passionate Observer Jean-Henri Fabre, 1998 A combination of contemporary watercolors by Marlene McLoughlin and nature writing by the 19th century French naturalist Jean Henri Fabre McLoughlin's watercolors vary from detailed illustrations of Fabre's subjects birds insects flowers to landscapes showing the France in which Fabre worked Fabre's writing is similarly varied at one moment he is giving vivid descriptions of eggs and fungi at the next he is telling stories about his grandmother or his theories on heredity Fabre's writings are excerpts from his 1879 Souvenirs Entomologiques Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Vanishing British Columbia Michael Kluckner, 2011-11-01 The old buildings and historic places of British Columbia form a kind of roadside memory a tangible link with stories of settlement change and abandonment that reflect the great themes of our history With small towns declining and old rural properties changing so little of the history of these places has been recorded in museums or archives and so much of it may disappear as families disperse and memories dim More than a decade ago Michael Kluckner began painting these dots on his personal map of the province in a watercolour sketchbook In 1999 after he put a few of the sketches on his website a network of correspondents emerged that eventually led him to the family letters photo albums and memories all from a disappearing era of the province Vanishing British Columbia is a record of these places and the stories they tell It combines engaging and insightful historical commentary with over 160 of the author's original paintings. It has an exceptional assortment of historic imagery including old postcards architectural plans and photographs The study of roadside memory demonstrates the visceral connection that people especially those who are part of the rural to urban diaspora of modern times have for the sites of their family memories On a grander scale this approach leads to a broader understanding of more abstract historical themes and of the province s history and culture It also presents a compelling argument for stewardship of regional history in the face of urbanization and globalization Because the Cat Purrs Janet Lembke, 2008-05-17 A new book by Janet Lembke is always a cause for celebration Sue Hubbell We share our lives for better or worse with a multitude of animals white tailed deer and white tailed eagles hens and wrens frogs and guppies and last but hardly least bugs and bacteria For the most part we drift along separately with neither man nor animal affecting the other's way of life Sometimes however we fall in love as in the case of the cat in the title or otherwise encounter our animal neighbors in ways that change both of us Lembke challenges her readers to consider the idea that all creatures are conscious with the ability to make choices exercise awareness and seek pleasure while shunning pain Rarely has a book of natural history covered such a broad range of subjects from the everyday bargains we make with our pets and other domestic creatures to descriptions of bungee cord snail sex and the purpose of a honeybee s sting Lembke explores the evolution of her subjects and draws on literature and myth to paint gorgeous wide ranging portraits of everyday and more unusual encounters such as that of a gardener and a groundhog or a chicken egg and Augustus Caesar's wife This is a sensitive and timely appraisal of how we treat the creatures
