The Dangers of Interpretation Ilona Treitel,2019-08-22 First published in 1996 This comparative study investigates thematic and technical similarities in the works of the two authors who shared a cultural heritage and achieved comparable status in their separate literary traditions Drawing upon theories by Bloom Bakhtin and Lacan the book examines ways in which Henry James and Thomas Mann treat the creative artist and analyze the creative and interpretive processes in their fiction The texts covered range from early works to their great modern novels The Golden Bowl and Doctor Faustus To a great extent the similarities between the works stem from the authors preoccupation with artistic responsibility Adopting Bloom s claim that the creative activity is an interpretive one and that the reader as well as the writer interprets a text into being the book also investigates the reader s responsibility in confronting the dilemmas challenging James and Mann s artist figures Such challenges are the dangers of interpretation discussed in this book

Finding Your Style In Pastel Jean Hirons, 2012-10-25 As artists we have choices There are very few rules that apply across the board We can create highly realistic paintings or perhaps more expressive paintings or paintings that have very little basis in reality including those that are totally non representational We can record color as we see it or as we d like it to be As pastel artists we have even more choices We can use a wide variety of pastels strokes surfaces and techniques to create many different looks The choices we make form the framework of our individual style our signature as artists Any subscriber to The Pastel Journal realizes how varied the medium of pastel can be For the experienced artist these articles are stimulating offering possible ways to experiment with alternative approaches For the beginner the panoply of choices can be overwhelming Painting is primarily an intuitive process But intuition is gained through study and experience Part of my impetus in writing this book has been to create a more structured approach to help those fairly new to the medium understand its many possibilities The book is aimed at all levels of pastel artists Beginners will find a wealth of helpful information and intermediate artists will gain insight into how to take their work to another level and develop a style Many advanced artists teach pastel the organization of ideas and the exercises included should be of assistance I offer a variety of suggested approaches and sometimes make up terminology to describe my experiences with the medium The instructions in the book are based on my preferences and the guidance that I offer my students The diversity of styles and techniques evident in the paintings of contributing artists should make it clear however that there are many ways to successfully work in pastel Having acknowledged the many possibilities I want to note a few musts Representational paintings must be well drawn Poor drawing skills cannot be overcome with lovely color or great technique Likewise paintings must have strong compositions regardless of whether they are realistic abstracted or non representational Values must be properly interpreted to produce strong compositions and to use pastel to its full effect And finally pastel paintings must sing

Whether the applications are light and airy or rich and painterly it should be clear that the artist is in control of the medium and is using it to produce his or her desired look For years I have resisted suggestions that I write a book As a landscape painter I knew that there were more authoritative books already available And the growing popularity of pastel has led to so many resources including online blogs a biennial convention and the wonderful Pastel Journal mentioned above What could I add to this My personal training in pastel has been from weeklong landscape workshops with some of the leading pastel painters in the country As a teacher in a community college I am not teaching a particular style nor focusing on specific subject matter Some of my students work with the landscape but others do portraits or figurative work while others prefer still life or work abstractly In dealing with this mixture I ve realized that there are different ways to approach one s use of color and this formed my first idea for creating a book Furthermore as a teacher I ve spent time experimenting with different surfaces pastel brands and techniques in order to make suggestions to students to help them find the look they want to achieve I do not teach students to paint the way I do but instead try to share my experience and help them develop their own individual style

Shechester 1974 Richard J J Bridle, It's 1974 Detective Inspector Fatima Dieng has been in Shechester the largest city in the northwest of England for some time She is feeling very frustrated If it's not the job it's the family Things had been so much easier in that sleepy little West Country town where she her husband Adama and their daughter Hadidjatou used to live and where she had charge of a small relatively smoothly functioning police station Life had indeed been better in Silbury Now her daughter was at university and her husband just moped around the house all day without a job without friends and resentful of the antisocial hours that Fatima no longer in uniform has to keep At work in fact things are really no better The Shechester and Pepford Criminal Investigation Department has been split into a number of teams each competing with the others for points awarded on successful conclusion of cases leading to both the prospect of career advancement and the pick of juicier higher profile cases in the future Fatima's team is the most racially diverse in all of Shechester and Pepford CID not to mention the most talented and innovative as one would expect given Fatima's own superior leadership capabilities They are called upon to investigate some extremely complex cases many of them having some connection to security threats posed by civil strife in Northern Ireland spilling over into many parts of the rest of the United Kingdom But much like one of the local football teams Shechester United the team languishes at the bottom of the CID league table largely due to running interference from Fatima's superior officers and so called colleagues in other teams It all comes to a point where her very own future as a police officer looks to be in jeopardy This is the third book in the series about the world of Inspector Fatima Dieng The others were Silbury 1966 and Silbury 1969      Introduction to Control Systems D K Anand,2013-10-22 This book is written for use as a text in an introductory course in control systems The classical as well as the state space approach is included and integrated as much as possible The first part of the book deals with analysis in the time domain All the graphical techniques are presented in one chapter and the latter part of the book deals with some advanced material It is intended that the student should already be familiar with Laplace transformations and have had an introductory course in circuit analysis or vibration theory To provide the student with an understanding of correlation concepts in control theory a new chapter dealing with stochastic inputs has been added Also Appendix A has been significantly expanded to cover the theory of Laplace transforms and z transforms The book includes worked examples and problems for solution and an extensive bibliography as a guide for further reading      An Introduction to Linear Control Systems Thomas E.
