Howard Fast Andrew F. Macdonald, 1996-08-28 Howard Fast one of the most prolific American writers of the 20th century has enjoyed wide popularity for his writing and suffered from great notoriety for his politics but has never been given full credit for his contribution to the essential tales of American culture the American Revolution and immigrant acculturation Although his novels have sold close to eighty million copies this is the first book length critical study of his work In addition to an overview of his fiction it offers close critical readings of his historical novels of the American Revolution Citizen Tom Paine April Morning and his most recent Seven Days in June his novels about slavery Freedom Road and Spartacus and his popular series about the American experience The Immigrants. A biographical chapter is partly based on an extensive interview granted by Fast exclusively for this book. A comprehensive bibliography completes the work. This critical study begins with a biographical chapter that links life and works showing how Fast transmuted his experience into fiction. Macdonald asserts that for all Fast's notoriety as a Communist in the 1940s and 1950s his works show him to be deeply committed to the principles that inspired the American Revolution. A chapter on literary background discusses all of Fast's major works and most of his minor ones placing the historical novels into literary context and the other works into their genre traditions. The remaining six chapters focus on his most important individual novels. Each novel is analyzed for plot structure, characterization, and thematic elements. In addition, Macdonald defines and applies alternative critical perspectives from which to read each novel. A genealogy table for The Immigrants series and a complete up-to-date bibliography of all of Fast's nearly one hundred published works as well as selected reviews and background reading make this study invaluable for research and critical understanding. This study of Fast's classic works of historical fiction will aid the student and support the interdisciplinary American history literature curriculum.

James Herriot Michael Rossi, 1997-01-28 This study examines James Herriot's five major books as carefully crafted volumes of autobiography based on the building block of the short story. In each of these works Herriot explores the fundamental choice of values underlying a happy and successful life. In his vision the bonds of affection and mutual dependence between all creatures human and animal form an enduring theme that lies at the heart of the choices he makes in his personal and professional life. This study will help the reader to understand the relationship between Herriot's stories and each book as a whole and to appreciate Herriot's work in the context of twentieth-century anxieties about identity and meaning. Following a biographical chapter that describes the relationship between Herriot's life and literary work, Rossi discusses the genre of autobiography, the relationship between truth and fiction in modern autobiography, and Herriot's use of the genre. A separate chapter is then devoted to each of Herriot's works in turn: All Creatures Great and Small, All Things Bright and Beautiful, All Things Wise and Wonderful, The Lord God Made Them All, and Every Living Thing. The discussion of each work includes sections on plot development and narrative structure, character development, thematic issues, and alternative critical approaches that may be fruitfully applied to the book. Helpful appendices contain identifications of minor characters in the works, a complete bibliography of all of James Herriot's works, critical sources, and a listing of reviews of all of his works. Because of the popularity of Herriot's work among adults and young adults, this companion will be a key purchase for school and public libraries.
