Path Dependence And Creation:

Path Dependence and Creation Raghu Garud, Peter Karnøe, 2013-05-13 The editors aware of the recent work in evolutionary theory and the science of chaos and complexity challenge the sometimes deterministic flavor of this subject. They are interested in uncovering the place of agency in these theories that take history so seriously. In the end they are as interested in path creation and destruction as they are in path dependence. This book is compiled of both theoretical and empirical writings. It shows relatively well known industries such as the automobile, biotechnology and semiconductor industries in a new light. It also invites the reader to learn more about medical practices, wind power, lasers and synthesizers. Primarily written for academicians, researchers and Ph.D. students in fields related to technology management, this book is research oriented and will appeal to all managers.

The Hidden Dynamics of Path Dependence G. Schreyögg, J. Sydow, 2009-11-12 The theory of path dependence continues to attract great interest in a range of disciplines. An increasing number of scholars have started to explicitly use this theory for studying organizational inertia and institutional rigidities. This volume presents a collection of papers from various international conferences that address these issues.

Path Dependence Or Path Creation? Raghu Garud, Arun Kumaraswamy, Peter Karnøe, 2010 We discuss the assumptions that underlie path dependence as defined by Vergne and Durand and then provide the outlines of an alternative perspective which we label as path creation. Path creation entertains a notion of agency that is distributed and emergent through relational processes that constitute phenomena. Viewed from this perspective, initial conditions are not given; contingencies are emergent contexts for action; self-reinforcing mechanisms are strategically manipulated; and lock-in is but a temporary stabilization of paths in the making. We develop these points using a narrative approach and highlight the theoretical and methodological implications of our perspective.

Handbook of Regional Innovation and Growth Philip Cooke, Bjørn Asheim, Ron Boschma, Ron Martin, Dafna Schwartz, Franz Tötting, 2011-01-01 Today economic growth is widely understood to be conditioned by productivity increases which are in turn profoundly affected by innovation. This volume explores these key relationships between innovation and growth, bringing together experts from both fields to compile a unique Handbook. The Handbook considers innovation from fresh perspectives encompassing topics such as services innovation, inward investment and innovation, creative industry innovation and green innovation. It is divided into seven sections dealing with regional innovation and growth, theory, dynamics, evolution, agglomeration, innovation, worlds, innovation system, institutions and innovation governance and policy. This definitive compendium on regional innovation and growth will undoubtedly appeal to teachers, students, researchers and practitioners of innovation and growth dynamics worldwide.

Unconventional Methodology in Organization and Management Research Alan Bryman, David A. Buchanan, 2018-03-21 Most researchers in organization and management studies stick to two or three traditional research methods like surveys and interviews. Sticking with the familiar is seen as a safe bet and innovation is discouraged by academic incentives and rewards.

But research participants are now suffering from survey fatigue and using the same old methods runs the risk of generating the same old findings This book describes twelve unconventional methodologies in organization and management research These include unconventional research settings and data sources unconventional research designs and data collection methods unconventional analytic approaches and designs and methods that exploit new technology developments The aim is to encourage dialogue and experimentation with regard to the development of innovative unconventional approaches to organization and management research Several commentators have criticized the way in which research methods have become more formulaic and have argued for greater diversity in research approaches The methodological perspective that we adopt shapes our interpretation of the information that we gather Different methods generate different kinds of information leading to different ways of understanding the phenomena that we are investigating Our methods influence our styles of theorizing ways of thinking and reasoning and forms of writing and reporting research This book will be of value to academic researchers in organization and management studies Doctoral candidates and Masters students on MBA and similar programmes Self-Reinforcing Processes in and among Organizations J. Sydow, G. Schreyögg, 2013-01-11

Management and organization research has rediscovered individual agency innovation and entrepreneurship As such there is a risk of overlooking the power of self reinforcing processes in and among organizations This volume redirects attention to these processes including escalating commitment organizational imprinting and path dependence The Handbook of Evolutionary Economic Geography Ron A. Boschma, Ron L. Martin, 2010 This wide ranging handbook studies and defines the paradigm of evolutionary economic geography The distinguished contributors highlight the key conceptual theoretical and empirical advances and present a clear statement of their aims objectives and methods Geography Of Technology Transfer In China: A Glocal Network Approach Chengliang Liu, 2023-12-06 The majority of technology transfer studies done today are derived from Economics and Management Sciences and there are relatively few studies that examine the geographical concerns of technology transfer from a glocal perspective Geography of Technology Transfer in China fills the gap by aiming to discover the geographical character of technology transfer and its determinants from the interaction in both global and local scales which involves the study of innovation geography economic geography urban economics and regional economics The chapters included in this book present a clear structure of a series of studies performed both theoretically and empirically The research begins by constructing an analytic framework for urban technology transfer study and abstracts the study target from technological innovation subjects to cities along with establishing the structure system the dimension system and the effect system of urban technology transfer research This then develops an initial conceptual framework for urban technology transfer research In addition it analyses the hierarchy of China's urban technology innovation system and the segmentation of the technology transfer market from the perspective of technology transfer All in all the book aspires to depict the spatial evolution of China's technological innovation system and technology transfer system from a city size perspective thereby realising the spatial scale of technology transfer study

The Handbook of Research on Energy Entrepreneurship Rolf W. Stenhagen, Robert Wuebker, 2011-01-01 This timely Handbook provides an excellent overview of our knowledge on the drivers influencing factors and outcomes of energy entrepreneurship As the world grapples with global resource crunches and fights to reap the rewards of new energy technologies a wide space for entrepreneurial opportunity has emerged The Handbook of Research on Energy Entrepreneurship offers critical insight on how nations the world over can make full use of those opportunities

Path Dependence and Regional Economic Renewal Arne Isaksen, Stig-Erik Jakobsen, 2018-12-07 This book investigates the mechanisms that may stimulate or hamper the renewal of the regional industry structure Recent years have witnessed a strong interest in and need for the modernization and upgrading of existing industries and the introduction of new industries Informed by the evolutionary perspective this book argues that innovations within existing industry paths and the creation of new industries are strongly rooted in the established economic practice Historically developed skills existing industrial structure and regional and extra regional networks form the basis for future regional growth This volume consists of 11 chapters studying different aspects of regional industrial path development illustrated with cases from Norway Sweden and Spain The book also look into the role of policy for regional economic renewal and argues that economic renewal is fostered by policies that incorporate both actor based and system based elements Such policy mix will provide a vital push towards renewal and new path development The chapters were originally published as a special issue in European Planning Studies

Geography, Open Innovation and Entrepreneurship Urban Gråsjö, Charlie Karlsson, Iréne Bernhard, 2018-06-29 Developed countries must be incredibly innovative to secure incomes and welfare so that they may successfully compete against international rivals This book focuses on two specific but interrelated aspects of innovation by incumbent firms and entrepreneurs the role of geography and of open innovation

Re-framing Regional Development Philip Cooke, 2013-01-17 Turbulence characterises the current global scene This book uses complementary theoretical approaches to understand and help prescribe policies to re frame the regional development problem in turbulent times These approaches are evolutionary complexity evolutionary economic geography emergence theory and resilience theory From below they address the four major crises creating a perfect storm for societies and economics involving the climate change crisis the energy crisis the banking and financial crisis and the global economic crisis This book analyses and proposes ways in which regional economies in particular are having to be reframed to address these crises First many must evolve in new ways possibly moving back from the service economy towards a new greener form of manufacturing of goods as well as services Accordingly regional economies are innovating in new ways Amongst these are the quest for relatedness within their own regional orbits and promoting modularity as a mode of analysis and a policy stance to stimulate innovation across industry and geographical borders Finally regional economies and societies are discovering that from a resilience perspective they must find answers to the higher levels of governance with which they increasingly struggle In this respect regional economies are in transition and regional processes are emergent The transition seeks to address the four crises involving re balancing re directing and re framing future policy and practice This book describes many of the novel framings involved in understanding the new ways in which this major task is being addressed in theory policy and everyday practice

Dislocation: Awkward Spatial Transitions Philip Cooke, 2021-05-18 Today the world is in the most serious turmoil it has experienced for many centuries These multiple crises arise from the fundamental mistreatment by capitalist competition of the carrying capacity of the planet Even before coronavirus evidently morbid symptoms of over development led many spatial planners to write of the threat of a new Dark Age Many advocated a return to policy decentralisation as the Covid 19 crisis demonstrated once again the failure of global controller mindsets to manage complex systems successfully Dislocation Awkward Spatial Transitions is a critical exploration of where spatial development processes and rules have gone wrong across many economies The chapters lay out which mindsets have been responsible for this and gives pointers to new practices that aim to ameliorate the effects of past failings In the first nine chapters a mapping of key elements of the prevailing omni crisis are summarised These range from an exegesis of the Anthropocene the rise of populism the transition to neoliberalist anti planning and migration as planning issues with pleas for evolutionary change in spatial policy and process dynamics Finally a group of chapters explores the flailing as territorial governances tried to plot the rise of creative cities 4 0 era industry and services and in the built form the role of starchitects in city renewal In the last part attention is devoted to territorial innovation knowledge recombination sustainable mobility and finally green entrepreneurship as necessary elements of a post coronavirus climate change mitigation and sustainable mobility set of survival strategies The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal European Planning Studies

Handbook on the Geographies of Innovation Richard Shearmur, Christophe Carrincazeaux, David Doloreux, 2016-11-25 The geography of innovation is changing Firstly it is increasingly understood that innovative firms and organizations exhibit a wide variety of strategies each differently attuned to diverse geographic contexts Secondly and concomitantly the idea that cities clusters and physical proximity are essential for innovation is evolving under the weight of new theorizing and empirical evidence The aim of this handbook is to break with the many ideas and concepts that emerged during the course of the 1980s and 1990s and to fully take into account the new reality of the internet mobile communication technologies personal mobility and globalization The handbook gathers a new generation of ideas and authors to contribute to the debate providing an empirically grounded critical appraisal of the prevailing knowledge on the geography of innovation The 28 original chapters written by a diverse range of scholars with widely differing views present fresh empirical evidence and new perspectives relating to how innovation plays out across space in an age where mobility has increased information is ubiquitous and globalisation has been realised Overall the dialogue between existing theory and new possibilities provides a unique and challenging appraisal of the connection between innovation agglomeration and space Offering cutting edge ideas in an accessible format this will be an ideal resource for students and scholars of economic geography and innovation studies The empirical evidence and analysis will also be of great value for policymakers and government officials Contributors include B T Asheim H W Aslesen A Bain P A Balland N Bradford A Bramwell C Brennan Horley S Breschi C Carraincazeaux C Chaminade R Comunian C De Fuentes D Doloreux D Eckert A Faggian M Ferru R D Fitjar K Flanagan C Gibson M Grillitsch M Grossetti G Harirchi F Huber A Isaksen S Jewel J Karlsen N Komninos J L Klein N Lee F Lissoni M Maisonobe J Mattes P McCann C T Noumedem R Ortega Argil s M Plechero A Rallet A Rodriguez Pose R Shearmur H L Smith B Spigel J Tallec E Tranos D G Tremblay F T dtling M Trippl E Uyarra C Yang C Wilkie D A Wolfe

Tourism Governance Bill Bramwell, Bernard Lane, 2013-12-16 The role of governance has only recently begun to be researched and discussed in order to better understand tourism policy making and planning and tourism development Governance encompasses the many ways in which societies and industries are governed given permission or assistance or steered by government and numerous other actors including the private sector NGOs and communities This book explains and evaluates critical perspectives on the governance of tourism examining these in the context of tourism and sustainable development Governance processes fundamentally affect whether and how progress is made toward securing the economic socio cultural and environmental goals of sustainable development The critical perspectives on tourism governance examined here challenge and re conceptualise established ideas in tourism policy and planning as well as engage with theoretical frameworks from other social science fields The contributors assess theoretical frameworks that help explain the governance of tourism and sustainability They also explore tourism governance at national regional and local scales and the relations between them They assess issues of power and politics in policy making and planning and they consider changing governance relationships over time and the associated potential for social learning The collection brings insights from leading researchers and examines important new theoretical frameworks for tourism research This book was originally published as a special issue of Journal of Sustainable Tourism

Tourism and Sustainable Development Goals Jarkko Saarinen, 2020-06-29 This comprehensive volume comprises some of the best scholarship on sustainable tourism in recent years demonstrating the rich body of past research that provides a fertile and critical ground for studies on the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs by tourism geographers and other social scientists in the future Since the turn of the 1990s many international development and policy making organisations have perceived the tourism industry with its local and regional connections as a high potential tool for putting sustainable development into practice The capacity of tourism to work for sustainable development was highlighted in relation to the United Nations SDGs which were adopted in 2015 The SDGs define the agenda for global development to 2030 by addressing pertinent challenges such as poverty inequality climate change environmental degradation and peace and justice Tourism geographers and allied disciplines have held strong and long term interest in sustainability issues and their chapters in this collection contribute significantly to this emerging and highly policy relevant research field This book was originally published as an online special issue of the journal Tourism Geographies

Tourism Destination Evolution Patrick Brouder, Salvador Anton Clavé, Alison Gill, Dimitri Ioannides, 2016-07-15 Outlining the need for fresh perspectives on change in tourism this book offers a theoretical overview and empirical examples of the potential synergies of applying evolutionary economic geography EEG concepts in tourism research EEG has proven to be a powerful explanatory paradigm in other sectors and tourism studies has a track record of embracing adapting and enhancing frameworks from cognate fields EEG approaches to tourism studies complement and further develop studies of established themes such as path dependence and the Tourism Area Life Cycle The individual chapters draw from a broad geographical framework and address distinct conceptual elements of EEG using a diverse set of tourism case studies from Europe North America and Australia Developing the theoretical cohesion of tourism and EEG this volume also gives non specialist tourism scholars a window into the possibilities of using these concepts in their own research Given the timing of this publication it has great potential value to the wider tourism community in advancing theory and leading to more effective empirical research Dynamics of Economic Spaces in the Global Knowledge-based Economy Sam Park, 2014-09-19 This book addresses how economic spaces dynamically change within the context of the global knowledge based economy Specifically it centers the discussion on integrated views of understanding and conceptualizing dynamic changes of global economy under the global megatrends of globalization knowledge based economy information society service world climate change and population aging Focusing on East Asia especially on Korea it deals with case studies regarding the processes and patterns of these global dynamics looking at economic spaces of various spatial scales and types of economic actors This book develops a theoretical model for understanding and analysing the dynamics of economic spaces that are being reshaped within the larger global economy It also emphasizes the analysis of empirical studies at the level of firm region and state by considering an evolutionary perspective over time In developing its theoretical framework this book examines regional resilience intangible assets service innovation path dependence and other notions related to the evolution of economic spaces and incorporates these elements into real world case studies The integrated theoretical framework examined here contributes a new perspective on spatial disparities in the global economy An integral model of service innovation the integration of path dependence and regional resilience the interaction between firm and region for the accumulation of intangible assets and the roles of governments and global firms these are all essential to understanding the dynamics of economic spaces in East Asia The theoretical model and case studies in this book suggest policy implications for developing countries especially in the Asian and African regions with regard to regional development and innovation policies
