Abernathy manor house causing part of the chimney facing to disintegrate The collapse exposes the secret compartment in the wall next to the fireplace allowing a skeleton in a Confederate Lieutenant's uniform to fall out While dusting for prints in the compartment the police forensic team also finds an expensive bracelet that was stolen the previous year from a retired Yankee businessman J Augustus Pickerill It's possible that the person in Confederate uniform was involved in the theft during the Confederate Memorial Day Ball that Mr Pickerill hosted during the previous May and hid there after he was mortally wounded by an accomplice who didn't want to share the loot But it is also possible that the theft was done before the ball while the Pickerills were out of the country on vacation Unfortunately Prudence was making some tractor furniture in Mr Pickerill's rec room during the vacation period That gave her the opportunity to steal the jewelry The local sheriff also decides that she had the means since the safe containing the jewelry was opened with a welder's cutting torch and the motive since the Abernathys are chronically broke Aided by her friends and her status as an almost local after living in the county for thirty years she sets out to prove her innocence As she works her way down the list of possible suspects she comes into sometimes amusing contact with many of the citizens of Mason County who when not answering Prudence's questions are busy trying to navigate their lives between the rural Old South and the encroaching suburbia spreading its technocrat tentacles out from the big city A reading sample author bio and picture can be found at bosonbooks.com
