Fred Bergsten,Gary Clyde Hufbauer,Sean Miner,2014-10-28 The terrain of the world trading system is shifting as countries in Asia Europe and North America negotiate new trade agreements However none of these talks include both China and the United States the two biggest economies in the world In this pathbreaking study C Fred Bergsten Gary Clyde Hufbauer and Sean Miner argue that China and the United States would benefit substantially from a bilateral free trade and investment accord In the process they contend each country would also achieve progress in addressing its internal economic challenges such as the low saving rate in the United States Achieving greater trade and investment integration could be accomplished with one comprehensive effort or through step by step negotiations over key issues The authors call on the United States to seek liberalization of China s services sector as vital to securing an agreement and they explain that such contentious matters as cyber espionage and currency manipulation be handled through parallel negotiations rather than in the agreement itself This is an important study of the benefits and difficulties of a complex matter that could yield dividends to the two economies and help stabilize the security and well being of the rest of the world The Trans-Pacific Partnership United States.
