Plant Breeding: Concept and Applications Atul Bhargava, Shilpi Srivastava, 2019-04-13 Plant breeding has played a significant role in the development of human civilizations Conventional plant breeding has significantly improved crop yield by genetically manipulating agronomically important traits However it has often been criticized for ignoring indigenous germplasm failing to address the needs of the marginal and the poor farmers and emphasizing selection for broad instead of local adaptation Participatory plant breeding PPB is the process by which the producers and other stakeholders are actively involved in a plant breeding programme with opportunities to make decisions throughout The Working Group on Participatory Plant Breeding PPBwg was established in 1996 under the framework of the Consultative Group on International Agricultural Research CGIAR Research in PPB can promote informed participation and trust in research among consumers and producers and in recent years PPB has had a significant impact on food production by quickly and cost effectively producing improved crop varieties At the same time there has been significant research in the area PPB offers significant advantages that are particularly relevant to developing countries where large investments in plant breeding have not led to increased production especially in the marginal environments In addition to the economic benefits participatory research has a number of psychological moral and ethical benefits which are the consequence of a progressive empowerment of the farming communities PPB can empower groups such as women or less well off farmers that are traditionally left out of the development process This book explores the potential of PPB in the coming decades The topic is more relevant since international breeding efforts for major crops are aimed at decentralizing local breeding methods to better incorporate the perspective of end users into the varietal development process The first book incorporating the upcoming research on this novel breeding approach it reviews the important tools and applications of PPB in an easy to read succinct format with illustrations to clarify these complex topics It provides readers with a basic idea of participatory plant breeding as well as advances in the field and insights into the future to facilitate the successful integration of farmers into breeding programmes This book is a valuable reference resource for agriculturists agricultural advisers policy makers NGOs post doctoral students and scientists in agriculture horticulture forestry and botany

Seed Policy and Programmes for the Central and Eastern European Countries, Commonwealth of Independent States and Other Countries in Transition, 2001-01-01 This publication presents the proceedings of a FAO regional technical meeting held in Hungary in March 2001 In line with the Rome Declaration on World Food Security and the World Food Summit Plan of Action the meeting recognised that a key challenge facing most central and Eastern European countries is the need to invest significant resources to increase the availability of good quality seed of a wider range of plant varieties The Locavore's Dilemma Pierre Desrochers, Hiroko Shimizu, 2012-06-05 A new generation of food activists has come to believe that sustainable farming and eating local are the way to solve a host of perceived problems with our modern food supply system By combining healthy eating and a high standard of environmental stewardship these locavores think we can also deliver important economic benefits and increase food security within local economies But after a thorough review of the evidence economic geographer Pierre Desrochers and policy analyst Hiroko Shimizu have concluded these claims are mistaken In The Locavore s Dilemma they explain the history science and economics of food supply to reveal what locavores miss or misunderstand the real environmental impacts of agricultural production the drudgery of subsistence farming and the essential role large scale industrial producers play in making food more available varied affordable and nutritionally rich than ever before in history At best they show locavorism is a well meaning marketing fad among the world s most privileged consumers At worst it constitutes a dangerous distraction from solving serious global food issues Deliberately provocative but based on scrupulous research and incontrovertible scientific evidence The Locavore s Dilemma proves that Our modern food supply chain is a superior alternative that has evolved through constant competition and ever more rigorous efficiency A world food chain characterized by free trade and the absence of agricultural subsidies would deliver lower prices and more variety in a manner that is both economically and environmentally more sustainable There is no need to feel guilty for not joining the locavores on their crusade Eating globally not only locally is the way to save the planet Companion Modeling and Multi-agent Systems for Integrated Natural Resource Management in Asia François Bousquet, 2005 Seed Policy and Programmes for Sub-Saharan Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1999-01-01 One of the major challenges facing most countries in sub Saharan Africa is the need to invest significant resources into strengthening their capacity to increase the availability of good quality seeds of a wider range of plant varieties This publication presents the proceedings of the Regional Technical Meeting on Seed Policy and Programmes for sub Saharan Africa Seed Policy, Legislation and Law Neils P Louwaars, 2002-08-23 Learn what it takes to create and implement a truly successful seed policy This unique book brings together international experts on seed policy and law While other books approach the subject from the perspective of seed industry development and privatization Seed Policy Legislation and Law makes clear that a
