Activity-Based Teaching in the Art Museum Elliott Kai-Kee,Lissa Latina,Lilit Sadoyan,2020-01-28 This groundbreaking

book explores why and how to encourage physical and sensory engagement with works of art An essential resource for museum professionals teachers and students the award winning Teaching in the Art Museum Getty Publications 2011 set a new standard in the field of gallery education This follow up book blends theory and practice to help educators from teachers and docents to curators and parents create meaningful interpretive activities for children and adults Written by a team of veteran museum educators Activity Based Teaching in the Art Museum offers diverse perspectives on embodiment emotions empathy and mindfulness to inspire imaginative spontaneous interactions that are firmly grounded in history and theory The authors begin by surveying the emergence of activity based teaching in the 1960s and 1970s and move on to articulate a theory of play as the cornerstone of their innovative methodology The volume is replete with sidebars describing activities facilitated with museum visitors of all ages Table of Contents Introduction Part I History 1 The Modern History of Presence and Meaning A philosophical shift from a language based understanding of the world to direct physical interaction with it 2 A New Age in Museum Education The 1960s and 1970s A brief history of some of the innovative museum education programs developed in the United States in the late 1960s and 1970s The sudden and widespread adoption of nondiscursive gallery activities during this period especially but not exclusively in programs designed for younger students and school groups expressed the spirit of the times Part II Theory 3 Starts and Stops Two attempts by American museum educators to articulate a theory for their new nondiscursive programs the first deriving from the early work of Project Zero the Harvard Graduate School of Education program founded by the philosopher Nelson Goodman to study arts learning as a cognitive activity the second stemming from the work of Viola Spolin the acclaimed theater educator and coach whose teaching methods embodied in a series of theater games were detailed in her well known book Improvisation for the Theater 1963 4 A Theory of Play in the Museum A theory of play that posits activities in the museum as forms of play that take place in spaces or playgrounds temporarily designated as such by educators and their adult visitors or students Play is defined essentially as movement both physical and imaginary metaphorical toward and away from around and inside and outside the works of art that are foregrounded within those spaces Gallery activities conceived in this way respond to the possibilities that the objects themselves offer for the visitor to explore and engage with them The particular movements characterizing an activity are crucially conditioned by the object in question they constitute a process of discovery and learning conceptually distinct from but supportive of traditional dialogue based modes of museum education which they supplement rather than supplant Part III Aspects of Play 5 Embodiment Affordances The idea of embodiment adopted here recognizes that both mind and body are joined in their interactions with things Investigating works of art thus involves apprehending them physically as well as intellectually in the sense of responding to the ways in which a particular work allows and even solicits the viewer's physical grasp of it 6 Skills Ways in which objects present themselves to us as viewers and what we might do in response as they fit with the bodily skills we have developed over the course of our lives Such skills might be as simple as getting dressed washing or eating or as specialized as doing one's hair dancing playing an instrument or acting all of which may allow us to grasp and even feel that we inhabit particular works of art 7 Movement Embodied looking is always looking from somewhere We apprehend objects as we physically move around and in front of them they reveal themselves differently as we approach them from different viewpoints Viewers orient themselves spatially to both the surfaces of objects and to the things and spaces depicted in or suggested by representational works of art Activity based teaching gets visitors and students to move among the objects away from them close to them and even into them 8 The Senses Both adult visitors and younger students come to the museum expecting to use their eyes yet visual art appeals to several of the senses at once though rarely to the same degree Sculpture for example almost always appeals to touch whether or not that is actually possible or allowed as well as sight A painting depicting a scene in which people appear to be talking may induce viewers to not only look but also listen to what the figures might be saying 9 Drawing in the Museum Looking at art with a pencil in hand amplifies viewers ability to imaginatively touch and feel their way across and around an artwork Contour drawing by its nature requires participants to imagine that they are touching the contours of an object beneath the tips of their pencils Other types of drawing allow viewers to feel their way around objects through observation and movement 10 Emotion Visitors emotional responses to art represent a complex process with many components from physiological to cognitive and a particular work of art may elicit a wide range of emotional reactions This chapter describes specific ways in which museum educators can go well beyond merely asking visitors how a work of art makes them feel 11 Empathy and Intersubjectivity One aspect of viewers emotional responses to art that is often taken for granted if not neglected altogether the empathetic connections that human beings make to images of other people This chapter advocates an approach that prompts viewers to physically engage with the representations of people they see 12 Mindful Looking Mindfulness involves awareness and attention both as a conscious practice and as an attitude that gallery teachers can encourage in museum visitors This is not solely a matter of cultivating the mind however it is also a matter of cultivating the body since mindfulness is only possible when mind and body are in a state of harmonious relaxed attentiveness Mindfulness practice in the art museum actively directs the viewer's focus on the object itself and insists on returning to it over and over yet it also balances activity with conscious stillness Afterword

Acknowledgments The Making of an Expert Engineer James Trevelyan, 2014-09-22 This book sets out the principles of engineering practice knowledge that has come to light through more than a decade of research by the author and his students studying engineers at work Until now this knowledge has been almost entirely unwritten passed on invisibly from one generation of engineers to the next what engineers refer to as sexpe Drawing Distinctions Patrick Maynard, 2018-07-05 If our procedure is to work steadily in the direction of drawing as fine art rather than as we so often find beginning from examples of such art where shall we begin One attractive possibility is to begin at the beginning not the beginning in prehistory which is already wonderful art but with our personal beginnings as children From there it will be the ambitious project of this book to investigate the course of drawing from the first marks children make to the greatest graphic arts of different cultures from the Introduction Patrick Maynard surveys the rich and varied practices of drawing from the earliest markings on cave walls to the complex technical schematics that make the modern world possible from cartoons and the first efforts of preschoolers to the works of skilled draftspeople and the greatest artists East and West Despite or perhaps because of its ubiquity drawing as such has provoked remarkably little philosophical reflection Nonphilosophical writing on the topic tends to be divided between specialties such as art history and mechanics In this engagingly written and well illustrated book Maynard reveals the interconnections and developments that unite this fundamental autonomous human activity in all its diversity Informed by close discussion of work in art history art criticism cognitive and developmental psychology and aesthetics Drawing Distinctions presents a theoretically sophisticated yet approachable argument that will improve comprehension and appreciation of drawing in its many forms uses and meanings Life Catherine Michael

Chin, 2024-03-26 Life immerses the reader in the cosmic sea of alivenesses that made up the late ancient Mediterranean world It weaves together the philosophical religious sensory and scientific worlds of the later Roman Empire to tell the story of how human lives were lived under different natural laws than those we now know Loosely structured around events in the biography of one early Christian writer and traveller Life gives us a vivid and intimate glimpse of how ancient lifetimes unfolded under the sway of cosmic and spiritual forces that the modern world has forgotten Landscape Painting

Richard Pikesley, 2019-11-25 Underpinning all good landscape painting is observation Starting from this standpoint this book introduces the artist to painting the natural and man made landscape Initially equipped with just a handful of pencils and paper to explore the world outside it allows confidence to grow alongside an understanding of the art and craft of painting landscape Written by artist Richard Pikesley it demonstrates his approach and that of other contributors who illustrate the diversity of paths that can be taken to achieve a passionate and personal response to the landscape Richly illustrated with over 300 colour images this book emphasizes the importance of observation and advises on how to learn the landscape it teaches the rudiments of drawing and develops confidence and technical understanding of the subject it explains colour mixing on the palette and how colour works in nature and is affected by sunlight Also included is a guide to the materials equipment and techniques of the landscape painter Finally there is advice on presenting framing and displaying your work and how to find exhibition opportunities The Significance of Aspect Perception Avner Baz, 2020-06-24

In this volume Baz offers a wide ranging discussion of Wittgenstein's remarks on aspect perception with special focus on Wittgenstein's method Baz starts out with an interpretation of Wittgenstein's remarks on aspects and continues with attempts to characterize and defend Wittgenstein's approach to the understanding and dissolution of philosophical difficulties Baz ends with attempts to articulate under the inspiration of Merleau Ponty's phenomenology certain dissatisfactions both with Wittgenstein's remarks on aspect perception and with his philosophical approach more generally On the way Baz explores connections between

Wittgenstein's remarks on aspects and Kant's aesthetics He examines ways in which the remarks on aspects may be brought to bear on contemporary philosophical work on perception He discusses some of the implications of Wittgenstein's work on aspect perception for issues in moral philosophy and the philosophy of action
